Students At UBC Can Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — A county court judge Thursday opened the door for out-of-town University of B.C. students to vote in the Dec. 17 Vancouver-Point Grey by-election.

Judge A. H. J. Swensky ruled in a test case that second-year zoology student Timothy Flegel, 19, who lives on the UBC campus, is a resident of the electoral district.

Flegel was appealing a rejection by the registrar of voters.

Atherton Named By Tories

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Vancouver alderman Reg Atherton, nominated unanimously Thursday as Conservative candidate in the Point Grey provincial by-election, took a swing at Attorney-General Bonner and an unnamed labor leader over recent strike violence.

He pointed Mr. Bonner, who holds one of three seats for Point Grey, for not enforcing the law in the labor disputes and a labor spokesman who said the violence was aimed at forcing the government to rescind labor legislation known as Bill 43.

Mr. Atherton, a chartered accountant, won the unanimous nod to contest the Dec. 17 by-election when three other potential candidates stepped aside in his favor.

Eight Hurt In Rush To Alarm

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Two policemen and six others were injured yesterday when a police car answering a bank holdup alarm was involved in a seven-car collision.

The bank call was a false alarm.

June Deadline

Nations Push Ottawa On Import Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—The member nations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade expect Canada to announce by next June the date for removal of any remaining import surcharges, informants said Thursday.

They said this is implicit in a GATT statement Thursday asking Canada to report "in the early part of 1963" on action taken to eliminate "expeditiously" the remaining surcharges.

STATEMENT TABLED

The GATT statement was tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Nowlan after Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced that a GATT-ministerial meeting will be held in early 1963 on liberalization of trade.

The ministerial meeting stems from a proposal by Mr. Diefenbaker at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference for a trade meeting of "like-minded nations" and a joint proposal by Canada and the U.S. to this effect to the current GATT meeting.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the remaining import surcharges should be removed by the time of the ministerial meeting in Geneva so that Canada can attend "with clean hands."

SOUGHT DEADLINE

It is understood that during that GATT review of Canadian surcharges imposed last June as part of the austerity program the United States wanted a deadline set for removal of the extra levies.

Woman Struck

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A middle-aged woman was struck and killed by a car Thursday night in Surrey. The woman, whose name was not released, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Chained by Sister

Woman Held For 20 Years

OMOLION, Greece (AP)—Police broke into the basement of a home in this tiny village Thursday and said they found a raving 42-year-old woman who had been chained to the wall by her sister for more than 20 years.

Investigators said villagers knew of it all along but had kept silent, fearing reprisals, until finally one resident broke the secret to authorities.

In the cellar, police found Elpiniki Apostolous lying on a floor littered with dirty rags.

The only window was sealed and covered with thick blankets. There was no furniture.

The woman's ankle was fixed to a wall by a chain.

One of the officers said the chained woman greeted them with screams and gestures.

"When she finally spoke we couldn't understand what she was talking about," said the officer. "She was like a wild animal."

Examiners physicians said it appeared doubtful the woman would ever be able to regain her senses.

The woman's sister, Maria Tsasari, a widow, told police she had confined Elpiniki because "she was insane." But her brothers claimed that Maria wanted to get her sister's property and dowry.

Police said they had learned that Elpiniki had married a local man when she was 17 and that the couple lived with the sister. Later, said police, the bride accused her husband and her widowed sister of infidelity and got a divorce. Shortly after that she disappeared.

'Expect Blast Any Minute!'

NEW YORK (CP) — "Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help!"

Crackling distress messages came through the night from the Greek freighter Captain George as the crew battled flames within range of a cargo of explosives.

10:00 p.m. EST: Freight-er: SOS... SOS... SOS... Position 37 degrees 15 minutes north, 60 degrees 45 minutes west. Require immediate assistance... explosion... require immediate assistance.

11:29 p.m.: Fire taking hold—abrupt midships. Cargo of sulphur impossible to extinguish. Need assistance desperately.

11:31 p.m.: Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help.

11:48 p.m.: Putting cargo over side. Condition worsening.

12:47 a.m.: Explosives jettisoned from aft. Looks more promising now. Only explosives forward of bridge.

5:30 a.m.: No. 4 hatch on fire. Defying all attempts to extinguish sulphur blaze. Fear that fire may spread to the No. 3 hatch, where oil stowed, or explosives forward. Course for Bermuda. Tanker Virginia standing by. Crew morale high.

CREW FLEES AMMO SHIP

18 Lost In Sea, 7 Safe

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Crew members abandoned a burning Greek freighter in the storm-tossed Atlantic Thursday night as flames swept near her cargo of high explosives. Rescue ships picked up seven men but said one lifeboat capsize, and they had lost sight of the other crew members in the water.

All 18 were reported to have been wearing life jackets. Other rescue craft were heading down on the scene, 300 miles north-east of Bermuda, to join in the search. The temperature of the water was 74 degrees.

FIVE PICKED UP

Messages to the coast guard from the scene indicated the freighter Trinity Navigator had picked up five crew members of the abandoned ship, the Captain George. The tanker Virginia rescued two from the capsized boat. One of the rescued men was said to have possible rib fractures.

SHIP ROCKED

The Captain George, carrying more than 100 tons of explosives, was rocked by an explosion Wednesday night. From that time until the ship was abandoned, Capt. George Karameziz and his crew of 24 fought fires in a gale that tossed the ship about with 30- to 60-foot waves.

The crew heaved part of the dynamite cargo overboard before taking to the lifeboats.

WAS DAMAGED

At one point the Virginia tried to go alongside the Captain George and reported she was damaged. There was no detail of whether she had collided with the distressed ship.

The Trinity Navigator said the first lifeboat was launched at 4:58 p.m., and she picked up the five crew members about a half-hour later.

SECOND BOAT

At 6:08 p.m. the second boat was launched and at 7 p.m. the Trinity Navigator said the boat had capsized after both rescue ships tried to make passes in heavy seas to pick it up.

The Trinity Navigator, convinced that a lifeboat launching was impossible because of the seas, had radioed Hamilton suggesting helicopters be sent at once. The U.S. Coast Guard replied that the vessel was too far away.

SITUATION TENSE

The tension and anxiety of the watchers aboard the rescue ships was reflected by this message picked up from one of the vessels by the coast guard: "Fire must be getting close to dynamite on board. Have heard one of escorting ships advising all ships to move away from Captain George."

NOT AGAIN

The RCA Communications Centre in New York said it had picked up a message from the Virginia reporting she had tried to go alongside the stricken vessel but suffered

We'll Shoot Planes Castro Tells U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba was reliably reported Thursday night to have warned the United States through Acting Secretary-General U Thant that Cuba would shoot down any U.S. planes flying reconnaissance missions over Cuban territory.

The warning was contained in a letter from Castro handed by a Cuban representative to Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union. Stevenson went at the request of Kuznetsov.

Without waiting for dinner

After a marathon session of three hours and 20 minutes Stevenson emerged and told reporters that the letter from Castro had been discussed. He said he might have more to add on the subject today.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga handed Thant the letter from Castro giving his position on the Cuban crisis.

A UN spokesman said Cuba had asked that the contents not be published until this morning.

Thant had a joint meeting with Lechuga and Kuznetsov Thursday afternoon. Lechuga saw Thant separately in the morning, and stayed on in the afternoon for a time after Kuznetsov departed.

UN Parley Set

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly's economic committee voted 73 to 19 with 23 abstentions Thursday to have an international trade and development conference held not later than next September.

Keep Eye on Nikita Adenauer Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer has warned President Kennedy the enforced withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba probably has made Premier Khrushchev more dangerous and unpredictable.

Adenauer's warning was made known as the chancellor prepared to return to Bonn to deal with what is possibly the worst political crisis he has faced since he took office 13 years ago.

He has set up a series of conferences for Saturday morning, a few hours after his return to Bonn, in an attempt to save his coalition, threatened by a dispute about the arrest of several editors of a weekly magazine for alleged treason.

INTENSE TALKS

Adenauer wound up two days of intense talks with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the issuance of a communique which as usual reported full agreement.

But Adenauer, it was learned, did take issue with Kennedy's estimate of the effect on Khrushchev of the Cuban crisis.

GUARDS STIFLE BERLIN ESCAPE

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards waylaid a guide from West Berlin and nipped an escape attempt by several East Germans through a 70-yard tunnel under the wall dividing Berlin, sources said Thursday night. Escapes elsewhere along the wall were successful.

Informants said East German Vopos apparently were waiting

Wednesday night at the tunnel dug from the West to the garden of a house just beyond the wall in East Berlin. The sources expressed fear that police also seized a large group of East Germans who had waited at the house since Saturday for the escape route to be completed.

As other Western guides crept away from the ambush they heard shots from the direction of the house.

In another area, an East German border guard shot it out with his own fellows in pre-dawn darkness and escaped to the suburb of Rudow in the U.S. sector. And a member of the East German Army reached freedom across the barbed wire border into the northern part of West Berlin.

damage and would not attempt it again.

The U.S. Navy dispatched two submarines—Torsk and Cutlass—to "proceed at best speed to render all possible assistance."

The Captain George, bound for Mediterranean ports after picking up cargo of explosives, dynamite and inflammable sulphur, flashed its first distress call at 10:30 Wednesday night.

PLANE CIRCLED

A U.S. Coast Guard plane circling overhead said the freighter's captain sent word "crew morale high"—but attempts to check the flames threatening the explosives still aboard and the hatch where the oil was stowed were fruitless.

The Captain George, leased by the Blue Star Shipping Corp., of Kingsland, Ga., operates out of Piraeus, Greece.

FOUR IN TROUBLE

Four American ships were reported in trouble in the storm.

The 65-foot, two-masted schooner Curlew, which sailed from Essex, Conn., for the Virgin Islands last Sunday, sent a distress call 90 miles northwest of Bermuda. New York Coast Guard headquarters said the six-man crew had abandoned the schooner but the coast guard base in Bermuda said they were still aboard at 3 p.m.

The schooner carried a raft and dinghy, equipped with flares and emergency provisions. The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Mendota, which was racing to the Greek freighter, was directed instead to go to the rescue of the schooner's crew.

Boston Coast Guard headquarters rushed aid to two New Bedford fishing craft, taking water far off Cape Cod and Nantucket. And the U.S. Navy ship New Bedford, a marine transport service craft with 23 aboard, was disabled with a broken steering cable, but in no immediate danger.

24 Dead Of Rabies

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Public health authorities Wednesday declared Buenos Aires and other nearby cities an emergency zone because of a rabies epidemic that has killed 24 people and infected thousands of others in nine months. Public Health Minister Turbaco Padilla decreed compulsory vaccination and other emergency measures.

called minutes before the Ingram inquest was to open, found scores of cars and a large crowd at the scene.

Traffic was rerouted as the wrecked late-model sedan was cleared away and police conducted their investigation.

Storm Ravages Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP)—Widespread flooding and damage was reported in southern Nova Scotia Thursday as a rain and snow storm hovered in the stationery position in the Atlantic 250 miles south of here.

The storm gave some areas up to 4.8 inches of rain, washing out secondary roads and isolating at least one community.

Mr. Stilling is survived by his wife Margaret, a son, Brian, 17, and a 14-year-old daughter, Linda.

INQUEST TO BE HELD
Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

An inquest will be held. The two deaths came hard on the heels of a report from Provincial Motor Vehicles Branch which predicted traffic deaths for the province will soar to a new high this year.

Typhoon Hovers

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—Typhoon Karen hovered menacingly close to the U.S. military bastion of Okinawa yesterday as the death toll here rose to eight and rescuers fixed the damage estimate at $200,000,000.

Navy Converting To Beat A-Subs

Helicopters New Sonar

OTTAWA (CP)—In the deadly cat-and-mouse game of anti-submarine operations, the Royal Canadian Navy has made such a startling advance the defence officials say the speed advantage of the nuclear sub appears to have been overtaken and surpassed. The proof will rest, of course, in actual operations.

The all but unheralded advance is represented by two separate but related developments. Variable-depth sonar and employment of all-weather helicopters from warships of destroyer size.

MAINTAIN EDGE

Authorities said Thursday that the helicopter-equipped destroyer will maintain the advantage over the fast nuclear submarine that the present destroyer holds over the conventional sub.

A $22,000,000 program to fit variable-depth sonar—a considerable improvement over previous underwater detection instruments—and helicopter platforms and hangars on the seven St. Laurent class destroyers is already under way. The Assiniboine began her conversion in July and the St. Laurent Nov. 6.

The navy is converting only two ships at a time because it must continue to adhere to its operation commitment to NATO and thus could not take a whole class of destroyers out of the water at the same time. Other factors are financing and employment of highly trained crews.

Two destroyers of the new Mackenzie class—the Nipigon and Annapolis—will also be equipped with variable-depth sonar and helicopter landing decks and hangars.

The other four ships of this most recent class couldn't be fitted with these developments because the improvements came along just too late to permit their incorporation in original construction.

FRIGATES, TOO

The eight general purpose frigates on which construction will start in Canadian shipyards in 1964 will also have helicopter platforms.

The navy hopes that the seven Restigouche class destroyers, which followed the St. Laurents, will also be equipped to carry helicopters.

In any case, the navy will have 19 ships—seven St. Laurent and two Mackenzie class destroyers and the aircraft carrier Bonaventure—equipped to cope with the nuclear submarine.

No Place For Reds In Fundy

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said yesterday that if Russian fishing vessels are still operating in the Bay of Fundy they will be asked to leave immediately.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the bay is within Canadian territorial waters and had been regarded as such as far back as 1763.

Two Russian vessels have been operating in the bay and if they have not left they will be informed that Canada claims the bay as territorial waters.

Jobless Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's jobless numbered 283,000 in mid-October, an increase of 23,000 from mid-September, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the department of labor said yesterday.

The increase was attributed to a sharp drop in farm jobs.

The total, rising with the approach of winter, was 35,000 below the 318,000 jobless at mid-October in 1961.

Reporting Charlatans to Police Aids Public, May Save Lives

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: There are some men in this area (not doctors) who treat people through the bottoms of their feet. They claim to open the blood vessels and tell which organs of the body are afflicted by pressure of a certain part of the foot.

Lots of people consult these men. My husband has emphysema, ulcers, etc., and is going for treatment. He has not been helped so far and I think the man is a quack. He isn't even well-educated. I would like your opinion.—MRS. J.H.

This is a new one on me, but charlatans keep cooking up hokum too fast for any one person to keep track of. You will be doing a great public service, and perhaps even save some lives, by reporting such people to the authorities without delay.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 15-year-old girl and have a problem with my teeth. They are yellowish, which is embarrassing. I've gone to a dentist and he said to have them cleaned. Will the enamel of the teeth be destroyed? Will they decay rapidly after I have had cleaning done? My father says, "keep brushing."—S.J.

I agree you should keep brushing, but I would follow the dentist's advice, too, and have him clean the teeth more often. This removes tartar and other accumulations that won't come off with ordinary brushing.

Cleaning will not harm the enamel. Instead, it will reduce risk of decay. I've had this done every few months for many years, and I've had much less tooth trouble than people who don't realize the value of professional cleaning.

Dear Dr. Molner: Four years ago my daughter became deeply depressed and was treated by electrical shock. Recently she again entered the hospital for the same treatment.

I have heard that shocks can injure the brain, and since the treatments did not cure her the first time, I wonder if it is wise to continue.—MRS. M.S.

Electro-shock therapy has some risks—but brain damage is not among them. The principal danger is physical injury from the convulsive reaction, but doctors take every precaution since they know of this problem.

When you say your daughter was not "cured," don't forget that she was brought out of depression for a period of several years. That is no small accomplishment. Recurrence of such illness can occur and additional treatment is necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have Hunter's ulcers of the bladder. I would appreciate any information. J.H.

They are tiny ulcers which occasionally occur in the urinary bladder, causing frequency and sometimes bleeding. Their control consists primarily of clearing up any infection, either of kidney or bladder, or at some remote site, such as teeth, tonsils or sinuses. Irrigation of the bladder also is helpful.

The ulcers tend to heal and disappear if the infection is eliminated.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the effect of eating starch? My husband eats about four boxes of ordinary starch a week and enjoys good health otherwise—but he has this craving.—F.S.

This oddity of taste and appetite isn't particularly uncommon, but I know of no reason for it. The only dangers are, first, that the extra calories in the starch make you fat; second, if you fill up on starch, you may spoil your appetite for more vital foods—Protein, vegetables, fruits, cereals.

Mile-Wide Meteor 10,000 Years Late

HOUSTON (UPI)—The world is 10,000 years overdue to be hit by a mile-wide meteor, Dr. Eugene M. Shoemaker, chief of the branch of astrophysics of the U.S. Geological Survey, told fellow scientists.

"The statistics show that North America should be struck by a large meteorite on the average of once every 10,000 years," he said. "The last large meteorite to strike this continent was the one which fell at Meteor Crater in Arizona. That was 20,000 years ago."

Dog's Wagging Tail Picks Right Owner in Court

CHICAGO — Mrs. Gladys Santiago and her three children and Mrs. Lucille Thorne and her seven youngsters went before Judge Joseph Butler in women's court to battle for the custody of a collie.

The battle began Oct. 22, when Mrs. Santiago had Mrs. Thorne arrested on charges of stealing her dog, Larry. Mrs. Thorne retorted the dog was hers and was named Lady. Both women presented witnesses.

"Let the dog decide," the judge ruled.

Almost from the moment she saw the Santiago children, the collie's tail began to wag. "I'm not a Solomon," he said. "I award the dog to Mrs. Santiago."

LONDON — Diplomatic informants reported that Greville Maynard Wynne, a British businessman arrested in Hungary Nov. 2 on charges of spying, has been handed to the Russians.

BOSTON — Suzanne Clift, 21, member of a socially prominent Boston family, was indicted for first-degree murder in the slaying of her lover Piero Brenzani, 27.

PRETORIA, South Africa — Children of persons under house arrest will be allowed to lead a normal social life, Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster said.

SCHLESWIG, West Germany — Police have arrested former Nazi SS officer Johannes Preuss of Suederbrarup on charges of helping in 12 wartime murders.

HALIFAX — Councillor R. D. Bell claimed some of his fellow Halifax County councillors showed up for a meeting "half drunk." He later withdrew the remark.

TORONTO — Spencer Caldwell, president of CTV television network, said the Canadian Broadcasting League's recommendation that CTV should have its licence taken away and turned over to a public authority was "almost too silly to merit comment."

WINNIPEG — Winnipeg mother of 11 children, Mrs. Rita Dzedzera, 34, is reported fully resigned to a two-year "house arrest" sentence. She received the unusual sentence after being found guilty of being in possession of stolen goods.

NAMES In the News

WINNIPEG — The Tribune said Mayor Steven Juha probably would be offered a Senate appointment within the next month.

VANCOUVER — If everyone obeyed all the "don'ts" in all the safety regulations, nobody would do anything, Toronto safety expert C. R. Blackstock said, adding people must learn to take risks intelligently rather than "being wrapped up in cotton batting."

BRUSSELS — British Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath resumed talks with ministers of the six-member European Common Market on Britain's bid to enter the trading bloc.

VANCOUVER — University of B.C. professor Dr. Peter Pearce charged Canada doesn't give her fair share to the world's underdeveloped and poverty-stricken nations.

BONN — Hans Dubs, Chancellor Adenauer's attorney, said he has agreed to defend Rudolf Augstein, publisher of the news magazine Der Spiegel, against charges of treason and bribery.

TORONTO — Union leader William Overkott lost his labor post because he was in Florida and therefore unable to vote.

Soviet Sub Can't Dive Says RCAF

OTTAWA (CP)—An RCAF Argus Maritime patrol plane has taken photographs of a Soviet submarine which apparently could not submerge because of mechanical trouble, air force officials said Thursday.

It is understood the RCAF is shadowing the submarine, heading home after first being spotted by U.S. forces in the Puerto Rico area.

The photographs, both showing the submarine's number, 945, on the conning tower, were taken "several hundred miles" east-southeast of Halifax, the RCAF said.

Indians on Offensive

Heavily-Supported Troops Hit Chinese

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian troops were reported officially Thursday to have launched their strongest attack since Communist Chinese invaded India more than three weeks ago and triggered the undeclared border war between the world's two most populous nations.

(Radio Peiping broadcast said more than 1,000 Indian troops, supported by "fierce, heavy" artillery fire, mounted repeated attacks against Chinese "frontier guards" but were repelled.)

ARMS FLOWN IN

An official spokesman, in reporting the action, refused to say whether the Indian troops were equipped with newly-arrived American and British automatic weapons. He did confirm reports that modern arms flown in at the urgent request of Prime Minister Nehru have reached the forward areas of the front.

The spokesman said the attack was launched Wednesday by a "strong patrol" against a Red position a few miles northwest of strategic Walong in the northeast frontier area (NEFA) near the Burma border.

(A Communist New China news agency report, monitored in Tokyo early Friday said "fierce fighting was still in progress up to (Thursday) morning.")

(In an earlier dispatch, the agency said "invading Indian troops" south of the Tawang River in the NEFA fired "more than 200 rounds of heavy artillery at Chinese frontier guards." It reported also that Indian planes repeatedly airdropped large quantities of "war materials" for the "aggressor" Indian troops.)

SUCCESSFUL RAID

In addition to the attack near Walong, the Indian spokesman reported that a "small Indian patrol raided a village held by the Chinese aggressors a few miles from Jang village and, in a clash, killed some Chinese soldiers and returned to base without loss to themselves."

UPI correspondent Michael Malloy reported from the Tawang front that Indian troops were digging in along the 14,000-foot high Se La pass in anticipation of one more Chinese assault before winter sets in.

CHINESE BUILDUP

He said that reconnaissance patrols reported the Chinese also were making military preparations. Red troop reinforcements were reported massing at Tawang, eight miles north of the pass, which was captured by the Chinese on Oct. 23. Chinese engineers were said to be speeding completion of a road from Tibet, apparently to bring in heavy artillery.

Half the Fight is Keeping Fit

Today's tense living, overwork, worry, may affect normal kidney action. If kidneys slow down impurities remain in the system. Then backache and that "tired" feeling often follow. Haste Needed

Canadians Can Help China Win Friends

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Wilfred G. Penfield, famed Montreal neurosurgeon, said Thursday Canadians might be in a position to bring about a reconciliation between Red China and her enemies but must do so with haste.

"Canadians might well be in a position to bring reconciliation between the world's unrecognized giant (China) and his powerful enemy," he said.

"But there isn't much time to lose."

"The Canadian in China is seen as an important friend, hopefully perhaps," he said. "We are doing her no harm and they have a need for friends."

ALSO BROTHERS

"Canadians are independent and speak their minds, but they are also brothers in origin, tradition, economy, appearance, speech, understanding."

He said a mood of dangerous and explosive anger prevails in China today against all who "from without, interfere in her affairs."

Nepalese Solidly With India

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—The Nepalese minister for home and national guidance said yesterday that "Nepal will not permit any invasion of India through its territory from the north."

The minister, B. B. Thapa, said Nepal was "gravely concerned" over the undeclared border war between India and Red China and considered it its "duty to safeguard the Indian northern border adjoining Nepal."

"The Nepalese will fight to the last soul" in the event the Chinese attempt to invade India through Nepal, he said.

Hunger Cuts Exports

ROME (AP) — Communist China, faced with crop failure and hunger, has had to make sharp reductions in her exports of agricultural products to Russia, the Food and Agriculture Organization reported yesterday.

As a result, China has lost trade credits for her own urgently needed imports of farm equipment and manufactured goods from the Soviet Union.

The FAO report, based on data from the Soviet trade year-book for 1961, said agricultural imports from China had been failing steadily for three years.

DWINDLE

It said by 1961 imports of rice, oil seeds, tea, wheat, edible oils, meat and eggs "had dwindled to virtually nothing" and that purchases of Chinese cotton, wool, silk, fruit and tobacco also were "much reduced."

FAO said this cut in China's exports to Russia was "probably due largely to disastrous climatic conditions."

Spirit Unchanged

IS OUR NATIONAL pride today so uncertain a thing that we are willing to subvert our independence in favor of a policy of international sycophancy? Such would some of our political pundits have us believe.

These purveyors of oppression, whose numbers appear to increase daily, see nothing odd in espousing this dour philosophy even in the midst of an era when more nations have achieved the right of self-determination than ever before in the history of the world and at a time when the line between freedom and slavery has never been so firmly drawn.

They see no inconsistency in praising the new nations for casting off their political chains while at the same time urging their own countrymen to voluntarily accept imprisonment of mind and limb.

Today the people of Canada are being asked to reproach their government for not accepting wholeheartedly the American foreign policy, for not meekly turning its back on the Commonwealth and entering the trade orbit of the United States, for having the effrontery of requesting prior warning of its allies in any major military operation, and for having the impertinence to stand up to the British government over its proposed entry into the European Common Market by demanding reasonable protection for Canadian trade.

Far better would it be, advocate these vindicators of lickspittism, if Canada were to turn her back on her past, abandon her destiny and take the easy way out by gracefully bowing to the inevitable to become in all but name the 51st state of the American union, content to bow to the dictates of Washington and able thereafter to rest secure in the knowledge that she is but part of the greatest nation in the world.

This, they say, is the only way for Canada to find the freedom and security she seeks—a way which would not only solve her economic problems of the future and of the moment, but would also permanently eliminate the possibility of any disagreement over opposing policies developing between her and her great neighbor to the south.

This, however, is no new gospel for Canadians. It has been preached throughout the length and breadth of the land by a segment of the nation since earliest days of Canada's history—and always have its prophets been given short shrift. And they may expect the same treatment today no matter how carefully they seek to disguise their purpose and their words.

The independent spirit of the Canadian people remains as unchanged as it was when they were called upon to defend their homes in 1775 and 1812, and their quest for freedom as unshakable as it was in 1918 and 1939.

Mandate in Quebec

NOT UNEXPECTEDLY the Liberal regime of Premier Jean Lesage scored a fine victory in the Quebec provincial election, increasing its party standing from 52 to 63 seats, all at the expense of the Union Nationale.

Mr. Lesage chose a popular issue to call what his opponents describe as a snap election, but the general measure of his reform programs since taking office two years ago also played its part in maintaining public favor.

He is now free to go ahead with the take-over of privately-owned power companies and add them to the existing public hydro system of Quebec, a preference in line with the utility set-up in most provinces and the mandate sought by Mr. Lesage.

Liberals have nevertheless regained some of the former hold in Quebec provincial politics they lost to the Union Nationale over a long period.

Naturally enough Mr. Pearson sees the Lesage victory as an encouragement for Liberal candidates in the next federal election. Coincidentally also the Liberals captured a "safe" CCF seat in a Saskatchewan byelection to cheer their prospects.

As all parties have found out over the years, however, provincial and federal elections are much different things. The Lesage victory was on a purely domestic issue and not necessarily a pointer to the federal scene, even if the Liberals made gains in Quebec last June.

The Soereds were not a factor in Wednesday's provincial poll but they remain to be reckoned with in Quebec by both Conservative and Liberal parties as a complicating factor in the next federal test.

Rare Unanimity

SELDOM in the course of Victoria's history can a project have won approval so nearly unanimous as has been given from all sides so far to the Centennial Square development plan for the creation of a commemorative plaza with a city hall addition, a civic theatre and restaurant and a recreation centre for elderly citizens among its adjuncts.

Victoria is notable for the amount of opposition that normally is generated by any improvement or change proposed, which is hardly surprising in a city that cherishes old ways and traditions that have given it distinction, an aura shared by no other community.

In the present instance, however, hardly a critical voice has been raised, an unusual circumstance that must derive from general satisfaction that the development will be a source of civic pride, will provide additional needed facilities, will encourage private amelioration of a rather rundown area and thus help revitalize the heart of the city, and—of singular importance—will not cast out the old, but will embellish it with the new.

This augurs favorably for the success of council's request to the ratepayers in the December elections for authority to borrow up to $950,000 as needed from time to time to proceed with the project quickly, in the expectation that loans of comparatively short term can be repaid from land-sales revenue with little or no increase in the tax rate.

But if anything further were needed to persuade taxpayers that they should support the borrowing by-law, Alderman Toone appears to have supplied it in pointing out that the work would go ahead even if the measure were defeated: it would only take longer.

Most citizens patently are convinced that the civic square and its appurtenances are worth having. They surely will be convinced too that they are worth building as quickly as possible, and not bit by bit as a decade or more drags by.

"Cluck!"

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE national Liberal president has asked the CBC to provide for a television debate between Messrs. Diefenbaker and Pearson during the next federal election campaign.

Presuming I suppose that these two participants agree. They can scarcely be dragged to the video camera.

I wouldn't blame either if he declined. It is one thing to pontificate on TV without opposition, as each undoubtedly will do come an election, but another to match cut-and-thrust, impromptu, while a whole nation watches.

And not so long ago a television debate cost a politician the American presidency.

Because, primarily, of appearance, which is where the public man is vulnerable. Few if any of them appear on the small screen with the aplomb and easy assurance of a TV announcer, who is suitably made up and able to read his piece from a hidden board.

Sometimes I think it's unfair to pitchfork public men on TV to answer questions, unrehearsed, on topics that come up from day to day. A press interview is different. In the latter the newsmen plays god-father to the speaker. None of the hum-and-haws, the "ahs" and "ers" that betray hesitancy or indecision, are reproduced. The comment reads as though it had flowed eloquently and clear-cut.

On television these debts show up like large warts. It is the custom now for that omniscient medium, the television camera, to be turned on a political leader at the least invitation, or even without invitation. He is caught in a trap, as it were, and expected right off the cuff to make masterful replies.

And look good while he is doing it.

Now a man can't help his looks or even his manner, and it would be a sad day if prime ministers were chosen on the basis of television beauty contests. TV has come upon the current crop of leaders without a by-your-leave. But younger aspiring politicians might do well to practise in front of the mirror if they want to succeed.

I must say that on television Mr. Pearson doesn't strike me as too appealing. He mostly seems harassed and rather petulant and at best presents none too favorable a TV image. Mr. Diefenbaker has much more presence but his weakness is the over-serious avuncular touch.

The most photogenic of the four national party leaders in fact is Mr. Thompson, and he manages to convey off-the-cuff views as though unclouded by doubts. So far that matter does Mr. Douglas, who has the redeeming virtue of humor to call on.

A pity indeed there wasn't more humor in politics.

In sheer debating skill, more crucial on TV than prepared speeches or sudden one-sided comment, Mr. Douglas is probably the best of all four leaders. But obviously the national Liberal president thinks Mr. Pearson can hold his own in video debate with Mr. Diefenbaker.

I am not sure he can, but it would be interesting to find out.

For Mainland Invasion

Formosa Talks of Green Light

By BRUCE GRANT from Taipei

TO the Nationalist Chinese leaders in Formosa, the invasion of India has been added to world events that seem at last to be conspiring to present Chiang Kai-shek with the conditions he needs to fulfill a 13-year-old dream—a victorious return to the mainland.

They believe that Peking has made a basic mistake in its military occupation of Tibet, which has in the past proved disastrous for China, and that the extension of this in the dispute with India will provide Mao Tse-tung's armed forces with heavy logistical problems for a long time. It will be costly and will concentrate the army in the least hospitable regions of the south.

The Nationalists do not underestimate the seriousness of their plans, which would bring the gravest threat to peace since the Second World War, but they now speak of them with cool and calculating expectancy, and their assessment of favorable conditions is based on several factors.

One is their view of unrest in China itself. Famine has always been a great disturber of authority in China's history. In pre-Communist days the family absorbed the social effects of famine (as a face-saving measure), but now the Nationalists believe the family itself has been disrupted by the communists and anti-family measures.

They interpret the exodus of refugees to Hong Kong earlier this year (a thousand of whom came to Formosa) as proof of a breakdown of law and order, at least in Kwangtung province in the south; and they see the changes in the Communist Party Central Committee secretariat, announced a month ago, as disension in the leadership itself.

But the key consideration is the extent of unrest, if any, in the Chinese army. If Chiang Kai-shek's forces made a landing on the mainland it would be done on the assumption that the troops would be swelled by deserters from a dissatisfied Red Army.

The Nationalists take the turn of events in Cuba to show that while Khrushchev remains in power the Soviet Union will not risk nuclear war to defend outposts of no vital strategic self-interest.

The belief in Formosa seems to be that if Chiang's counter-offensive were restricted to the Yellow and Yangtze river valleys, and did not impinge on areas of immediate Soviet interests, such as Sinkiang, Manchuria and Mongolia, Moscow would not intervene militarily.

These are the Chiang government's views. Some other factors present themselves to a visitor to Taipei. One is that Chiang himself is now 75. To the extent that a return to the mainland is bound up with his desire personally to lead the attack, his advancing age must be regarded as an additional pressure on a decision.

Although a decision to attack the mainland rests with Chiang and a small group around him, the U.S. would be implicated in any commitment of National forces. The Nationalist leaders say they do not want American forces, or those of any other friendly nation, when the time comes. In the words of one official, "This is a war between Chinese," and it is pointed out that the presence of Western troops would be a political liability. It would enable Peking to rally support against "imperialists," and would unnecessarily force Russia's hand.

But the American view is that the mutual defence treaty of 1954 between Nationalist China and the United States clearly sets out in the exchange of letters accompanying the text, that the use of force by either party "will be a matter of joint agreement."

When he goes shopping, he usually leaves his car (a 1956 Cadillac) around the corner in a side street, and strolls into the stores with his side de camp. He prefers to visit his tailor rather than have the man come to the palace, just as he would rather discuss the choice of files for a fishing trip with the expert behind the counter and browse through the latest books in his favorite bookshop.

Gustav Adolf succeeded to the throne on the death of his father in November, 1690. His constitutional powers have been whittled away by many reforms, but he has always refrained from dabbling in politics. He has his distinct niche as a man above partisan politics, a tactful umpire in periods of internal division, a patron of culture and an ambassador of goodwill to the world. His working day is packed with official functions, audiences, visits to factories, exhibitions and meetings. He writes all his own speeches and answers the 12,000-odd letters which reach him every year.

"In my youth I was not quite the right thing for a future king to study archaeology," he admitted the other day, "but I managed to smuggle myself into a course at Uppsala University, where I was supposed to be studying political science."

His interest in archaeology goes back to his boyhood when he began digging in the backyard of the royal summer residence and found some Viking relics. Since then he has ex-air force, but its naval forces are weak. It relies at present on the defensive strength of the U.S. 7th Fleet. Observers are therefore watching with interest the result of the special tax struck by the government for defence purposes on May 1 this year. It appears only to provide an additional $25 million the first year, but as a gesture of independence it may be more significant.

The American dilemma is that the treaty had a double edge. If agreement is required for either party to use force, an act of force suggests that agreement has been given. As a matter of basic policy, it is obvious Washington would prefer to have the Nationalists in power in Peking rather than the present regime. If then the strike comes, who is going to believe that the U.S. is not behind it? It is on such delicate matters of judgment that the United States' apparently firm policy in this area may eventually be tested.

Sweden's Gustaf Adolf

By MICHAEL SALZER from Stockholm

EVEN republicans in Sweden admit that if the monarchy were abolished tomorrow, King Gustaf Adolf would be the Swedes' first choice as the country's first president. The ideal waves of republicanism, which sweep across Sweden occasionally, quickly shatter on the rocks of traditionalism and widespread respect for the athletic six-footer who celebrated his 80th birthday last Sunday.

Gustaf Adolf is an informal king. He recently invited foreign correspondents in Stockholm to a chat. "I wanted to meet you," he told his guests, "because I am surprised at the variety of subjects you manage to cover." The surprise was mutual. The king, who was elected a Fellow of Britain's Royal Society in recognition of his archaeological research, and a dabbler in botany and horticulture, conversed with them in five languages on topics ranging from Roman sculptures and Swedish silver to Britain's trade problems and French films.

When he goes shopping, he usually leaves his car (a 1956 Cadillac) around the corner in a side street, and strolls into the stores with his side de camp. He prefers to visit his tailor rather than have the man come to the palace, just as he would rather discuss the choice of files for a fishing trip with the expert behind the counter and browse through the latest books in his favorite bookshop.

Gustav Adolf succeeded to the throne on the death of his father in November, 1690. His constitutional powers have been whittled away by many reforms, but he has always refrained from dabbling in politics. He has his distinct niche as a man above partisan politics, a tactful umpire in periods of internal division, a patron of culture and an ambassador of goodwill to the world. His working day is packed with official functions, audiences, visits to factories, exhibitions and meetings. He writes all his own speeches and answers the 12,000-odd letters which reach him every year.

"In my youth I was not quite the right thing for a future king to study archaeology," he admitted the other day, "but I managed to smuggle myself into a course at Uppsala University, where I was supposed to be studying political science."

His interest in archaeology goes back to his boyhood when he began digging in the backyard of the royal summer residence and found some Viking relics. Since then he has excavated in Greece, Egypt and Italy and goes outside Rome every autumn unearthing bits and pieces of Etruscan or Roman pottery. In the summer he looks after his botanical gardens at Solfero where he has hundreds of rare rhododendrons.

The "citizen-king" and Queen Louise have done their best to bridge the gap between the court and the people. Their grandchildren are educated in public schools with children from all walks of life, but Gustaf Adolf strictly adhered to his motto: "Duty Above All" and withdrew royal privileges from two of his sons when they married commoners. The former princes now carry on as ordinary businessmen.

The king's eldest son Gustaf Adolf (father of the 16-year-old Crown Prince Carl Gustaf) was killed in a plane crash in 1947. Sigvard Bernadotte, now 55, is a well-known designer and silversmith. The third son, Carl Johan Bernadotte, 46, is managing director of an export firm. Only the youngest son, Prince Bertil, has retained his royal status. A bachelor, his chief interest is cars and sports, while the king's only daughter is now Queen Ingrid of Denmark.

Rather than abolish the monarchy, the Swedes continue to reform it. New legislation recently altered the law of accession from 21 to 25. This is to ensure that the heir to the throne is fully mature and has completed his studies. Until then a regency council will administer affairs for the crown prince in the event of the king's death. Gustaf Adolf, however, is still healthy and spry and he belongs to a family known for their longevity. His father died in harness 12 years ago at the age of 92.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Lower Canadian authorities ordered the arrest of Louis Joseph Papineau, leader of the Patriote Party, 125 years ago today—in 1837. After leading his party to armed conflict against the government, he fled to the United States to escape arrest on a charge of high treason and thus took little part in the Rebellion of 1837. He returned to Canada under the amnesty of 1845.

1933 — President Roosevelt recognized the Soviet Union as government of Russia.

1885 — Louis Riel was hanged at Regina for rebellion against the government.

No Mean Feat

Syzygy In Soup

By CASSANDRA from London

A NEW maltreatment of a synthetic word is creeping into our language. It is "escalate" and is not to be found in the English Oxford Dictionary.

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Words, over which I take a presiding interest, protests.

On the television the other night there was a military discussion and one commentator used the phrase: "From this crisis we might 'escalate' into war."

In a trice, the whole discussion group was talking of "escalating" to war.

The conversation was riddled with "escalating."

No military writer today seems to be able to pen a sentence without "escalating." The word is fast overtaking the detested "image" which politicians brutally flogged to death with appalling zest and without which they dared not face their constituents or their colleagues.

From this repetitive gibberish I turn to a word that until yesterday I had never been properly acquainted with, although I once caught a glimpse of it from afar.

It is a very rare word and was beautifully and skillfully incorporated in a letter to the Times written by Miss Josephine Terry about the French fish-soup called Bouillabaisse.

May I introduce you to it? It is SYZYGY. Unmarred by any vowel and with five of its six letters delicately culled from the back-end of the alphabet, it is a word to remember.

Try it. Say it slowly "SYZYGY" and pronounce it carefully—"Siz-zid-gee."

It originally meant "yoke" or "pair."

Now it is used as meaning "the conjunction, or opposition, of heavenly bodies."

How Miss Terry got it in the culinary pot I do not know.

But I congratulate her. The conjunction of SYZYGY with a rich French fish soup, made at its best near Marseilles with the mistral blowing, of Whiting, Red Mullet, Crawfish, Lobster, Eel, Gurnet, Crab, Sole and Bass, hushed up with onions, leeks, tomatoes, garlic, bay, savory, parsley, fennel, tarragon, saffron, salt, pepper, white wine and olive oil is no mean feat.

FROM Reuters: "There will be no Nobel Peace Prize this year, it was announced in Oslo today. No explanation was given."

Asah Sweet Mystery of Life, I wonder why.

FIRMS of solicitors have always rejoiced in resounding names — such as Slaughter and May and Specter and Specter, but the house and estate agents are fast catching them up. Here are just a few at random:

Giddy and Giddy; Cracknell and How; Hetherington and Secret; Gascoigne Pees; Pretty and Ellis; Hillyer and Hillyer; Lear and Lear; Carter, Law and Leech; Coney, Coney and Coney.

In these days of supermarkets and vast chain stores owned by a handful of acquisitive financiers, working in cautious anonymity, surrounded by nominees and trading under fabricated names, it is good to hear the old Dickensian ring of a forthright English name.

MR. NEHRU demoted Mr. Krishna Menon. The news will be greeted with deep satisfaction at the United Nations building at New York.

Krishna Menon held the world's record for employing that great assembly hall.

The moment it was realized that India's unending moralist was about to speak, the rush not to hear him was terrible to see.

Men fought each other to escape from his words like trapped stokers in the flooded engine room of a sinking ship.

The cry "Women and children first!" was smothered by bellowing fugitives breaking the hundred metres record shouting: "Out of the way and let them as can run, run."

Elderly statesmen crippled with arthritis hared up the aisles and broke the second barrier.

Doors were smashed to matchwood. Some escapees ran so fast that they couldn't pull up till they got to Fifth Avenue.

Prodigious bones who really knew how to give an audience a hard time paled when they heard that Krishna Menon was about to confine himself to a hurried impromptu speech, not lasting a moment more than ten hours.

He will be joyfully missed.

FROM The Personal Column of The Times: "Cannonballs required; six pounders in good condition." From The Financial Times: "Atomic Shelter. Cellar available in small country house 40 miles N. of London. Exchange highest rate."

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 300 words in length, and if signed with a pen-name must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

In spite of what the song tells us, Santa Claus may not be coming this year; it's beginning to look as if he never left.

I agree that a certain amount of commercialization is unavoidable at Christmas. We all buy gifts, and local businesses are in competition for our Christmas dollar, but there is a limit as to how early they can start pushing the Christmas spirit, and I believe this limit has been passed.

Santa Claus and Christmas are for children, but when Santa pops up a month and a half before Christmas, by Christmas time both he and his image are worn out. You can't go on indefinitely telling a small child that Santa isn't coming tonight, or for that matter this month, without sooner or later destroying some of that wonderful feeling that Christmas is for children.

When the merchants stock their stores in their own concern, but surely it is not asking too much of them to ask that they refrain from pushing Santa Claus until we are at least into December.

As a consumer I have one right, and that is the right to buy where I please. For what it is worth, this year I intend to do my Christmas shopping at stores that at least show a little regard in this matter, and to avoid those that do not.

DISGUSTED.

Sport First

I should like to congratulate Mr. Phil Bagge (obviously "fill bag") for his very clever letter "Inefficient Fishers" which appeared in your issue of the 11th.

I am one of these so-called sportsmen and at times when I have been playing a large fish on a 3 or 4X leader I have also had a silly grin on my face. Curiously enough we so-called sportsmen, who use an artificial fly, are more interested in the sport of fishing than in taking the fish.

My friends and I were so amused by Mr. Bagge's letter that we have sent it to the Field in England for publication. We believe that such a masterpiece should receive the reward it deserves.

M. P. R. WRIXON,
2250 Arbutus Road.

Try Blasting?

In his letter to the editor in Sunday's Edmonton Mr. Bagge of Manning has admirably expressed the view of those who are against fly fishing. He feels that playing a fish is a waste of time and claims that the true sportsman will use twenty pound test line and yank the fish out in "three minutes flat."

In the interest of even greater efficiency, netting, spearing and blasting might be considered. After all, all other methods have at one time or another—spearing quite recently—been introduced as "fancy foreign ideas."

CHARLES HUSZAR,
Millstream Rd., R.R.4.

ECM and Commonwealth

... We Britishers hardly yet know what our own rejection (to joining the Common Market) is. We have a vague notion that for our own economic survival, it has to be. We also know that our Commonwealth (our "white" Commonwealth anyway) means much to us, and crystallized in print in the editorial "Less Important" is a viewpoint which voices the possibility of the Commonwealth's disintegration, and the tragedy is, there is a measure of justification in the forecast.

The question immediately posing itself therefore is, "Is it then beyond the wit of men caught up in this deplorable trend (if it be so)

Inspired

With several authorities, including the Canada Council, complaining that creative writing in Canada had reached an all-time low and with Roy Thompson setting up a $14,000,000 fund to establish an assembly-line factory for turning out future Canadian Shakespeares and Hemingways it was a real treat to read, over and over, Vivienne Chadwick's inspired gem of English literature on the front page of the Remembrance Day Islander.

With this type of literature illuminating the pages of the text books of our schools and universities what a joy it would be to be a Canadian teenager!

'Beyond Cavi'

My attention was drawn to your editorial under the heading "Beyond Cavi'." This concerns the intention of the city to ask the other municipalities to share the cost of the erection of the Queen's bust in Beacon Hill Park. You assert that "the adjacent municipalities have long since established the principle of not paying for something they can enjoy for nothing."

This, the writer believes, is a cheap insult to the councils and to the taxpayers of these areas.

Again you say, "the city maintains Beacon Hill Park and is a haven for the combined Victoria areas' recreation, air, should make you aware of the fine parks and park areas in the other municipalities, maintained by them and used by citizens of all the area. This does not include those maintained by the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee."

Upsurge of Radicalism Sweeps Ranks

Society's Conscience Labor's New Image

By FRANK DEZA

After 10 years of playing it close to the vest, a new upsurge of radicalism is sweeping through the ranks of Canadian labor.

The new radicalism is reflected in the decision of the Ontario Federation of Labor to endorse the concept of a 30-hour work week; to collect a war chest to fight the battle for Medicare in every community of the province; to continue its battle for a new deal on behalf of 20,000 migratory farm workers.

The battle cry was given by OFL president David Archer with his warning that the day of business unionism was gone forever—but labor would insist on being accepted as the conscience of industrial society.

The impact of the new image—or more properly a return to the image of the 1930s—is that trade unions will no longer attempt to justify their existence on the basis of what they are doing for their members.

Instead labor will stress its community and its social role to members as the prime reason for remaining loyal during times of economic turbulence.

The reasoning behind the new approach is that the curtain has dropped on the era when skilled labor negotiators could win enough money and fringe benefits across the bargaining table to insure the continued loyalty of the membership.

The bargainers will continue to push for better wages and conditions but they realize that it will be a tedious, uphill fight in the next decade.

And, senior labor leaders realize only too well that when they talk of the direct benefits that have from trade unionism, they are reaching a decreasing audience.

In terms of membership, fewer and fewer trade unionists remember the days before the union when there was no seniority, no grievance procedure, in fact no regulation covering their job or the way they worked.

The beginnings of the new approach can be seen in Mr. Archer's speech where he stressed that labor cannot remain as an isolated segment of society, concerned only with the wages of its members and the size of the union treasury.

He rejected this as cross materialism and put the new order on the line: "a union without idealism is not a union."

To translate the appeal into practical terms, the OFL moved sharply leftward with the formal recognition of the 30-hour work week as a goal of unions at the bargaining table.

In terms of the practical the Ontario labor body, which has 500,000 union members within its ranks, put all its cards on the table with the call for money to fight the Medicare battle.

Instead of launching a traditional labor lobby to pressure legislature, the OFL plans to take its campaign to every street corner in Ontario. Instead of presenting resolutions and making speeches, the OFL intends to spend every penny it can get its hands on to bring a government-sponsored medical care plan to Ontario.

Whether it is successful in the Medicare battle or not, and since the Liberal and New Democratic Parties now favor such a program, the labor leaders will have demonstrated their role and made a firm foundation for future drives in the social welfare field.

In fact it is the determined move to have a much larger role in the community that makes the OFL actions extremely significant.

In effect, labor is digging in to try to prove that it should be accepted as part of a tightly-regulated industrial society—not just tolerated as one phase of a loosely-run industrial economy.

Effort to Conceal Rift

Russia Beggars China To Halt India War

By K. C. THALER
From London

The Soviet Union was reported by diplomatic sources yesterday to be pushing a frenzied offstage bid for a Sino-Indian truce to avert an open showdown with its truculent Chinese communist ally.

The Soviet move was understood to be pleading with Peking to compromise with India, instead of forcing the conflict to a possible point of no return.

Moscow, which apparently failed to make headway in peeping by applying political and economic pressure, now was believed to be trying through persuasion.

The Soviet move was believed to have been prompted at least partly by the approaching decision on whether to supply India with MIG jet fighters. Soviet failure to honor its pledge to India, on the other hand, would threaten a serious rift in the Russo-Indian alignment.

The Soviet envoy in New Delhi, I. A. Benedictov, is returning to Moscow for the plenary meeting of the all-powerful central committee of the communist party, due to open Monday.

Communist China's envoy in Moscow left last month. His successor has not arrived and the new Soviet probing presumably is done through its ambassador in Peking.

China hardly has mentioned Premier Khrushchev since the Cuban retreat, directing its attacks against his policy.

Satellite diplomats have been increasingly critical of China's strategy in recent comments and have insisted that the Soviet cannot turn back from its present policy of peaceful co-existence to please Peking.

Nor does Khrushchev seemingly want the present Chinese clash with India to force his hand, with the unforeseeable consequences that such a move could entail, the diplomats hinted.

Moscow, according to the indications reaching London, is seeking to bring the fighting to a halt, as the first move, and to get the Chinese and Indians to agree to consider a face-saving formula on withdrawal.

Cabinet Shift Predicted For Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage said Thursday he will take an eight- or nine-day holiday starting next week and that he would be back in Quebec for a cabinet meeting Dec. 5.

His announcement—following a three-hour cabinet session—heightened speculation that he would reshuffle his cabinet about that time following Wednesday's solid election victory by his Liberal party.

INCLUDES TAKEOVERS

The cabinet's work Thursday was centred on some of the principal legislation for the next session, Mr. Lesage said. It included the takeover of 11 private power companies for which the Liberal administration received a mandate in the election. Other items of legislation included the labor code and changes to legislation affecting co-operatives.

The session would probably open either Jan. 8 or 15, he said.

HOLIDAY 'ORDERED'

As he went into the meeting, Mr. Lesage said he didn't plan a holiday until around Christmas, "perhaps." But when he came out, he said his colleagues had ordered him to take a rest.

"I feel in good condition except for my voice," he added. Entering the meeting he said there "will have to be" a cabinet shuffle. He thought perhaps it would be two weeks before the new cabinet makeup is disclosed.

One person mentioned for the cabinet—probably minister of municipal affairs—is Pierre Laporte, lawyer and former newspaper man who was first elected to the legislature last December in a byelection. He was handily returned in Chambly as the Liberals picked up 63 seats to the Union Nationale's 31. One independent was elected.

TO NEW POST

It was considered likely that Lucien Cléche, the present municipal affairs minister, would move to attorney-general, taking over from Georges Lapalme who would retain the cultural affairs portfolio.

Mr. Lapalme has said publicly he wants to be relieved of the attorney-general's portfolio.

Court May Order Girl To Testify on Tragedy

MIAMI (UPI)—Federal Judge Emmet Choate Wednesday scheduled a hearing for next Monday on whether a little blonde-haired girl, the only survivor of the ketch Bluebell tragedy, should return to Miami to tell her story.

Choate scheduled the hearing on the request of attorneys. It will take a deposition from 12-year-old Terry Jo

U.S. Warns Personnel To Shun Soviet Beauties

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon has ordered its personnel to ignore the beckoning glances of bewitching Russian beauties. Big Brother, it said, may be lurking behind a two-way mirror.

The order was contained in defence department memoranda dealing with Communist espionage methods that might be used to trap U.S. military men or civilians working overseas.

U.S. Exposed To 'Red Blow'

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Pro and anti-Castro factions stepped up their hemisphere activities Thursday while the Mexican press reflected fear the U.S. has lost the initiative in the Caribbean and is exposed to a Communist counter-strike.

Informed sources said diplomatic soundings on Latin American countries' attitudes toward a prospective Cuban government-in-exile in Guatemala are in progress.

Castro supporters also were active. Copies arrived here of a call issued for a secret meeting of Latin American Communist leaders at an undisclosed place. This was the same manifesto said to have been published in the Havana Communist Daily Hoy.

The Communist call was interpreted as the start of a possible political-diplomatic offensive against the U.S. and the governments which are backing the naval blockade of Cuba.

BLOCK RED BLOW
The Daily Excelsior, reflecting local opinion, the Caribbean crisis has taken a new turn, said:

"Vacillation must cease. White House energy must block a Red counter-blow in Latin America . . . Is President Kennedy going to lose the bout after winning the first few rounds?"

Sponsors Want Out

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The head of the Shick Safety Razor Company, angered by a television show on which Alger Hiss appeared as a critic of Richard Nixon, wants to cancel its $1,000,000 advertising contract with ABC-TV.

But ABC won't agree. Patrick Frawley, chief executive officer of the Shick firm, sought cancellation of the contract in a telegram.

POOR TASTE

"We are shocked at the extreme poor taste and judgment shown by the ABC network in presenting a convicted perjurer involved in the passing of United States secrets to the Communists as a critic of a former vice-president of the United States."

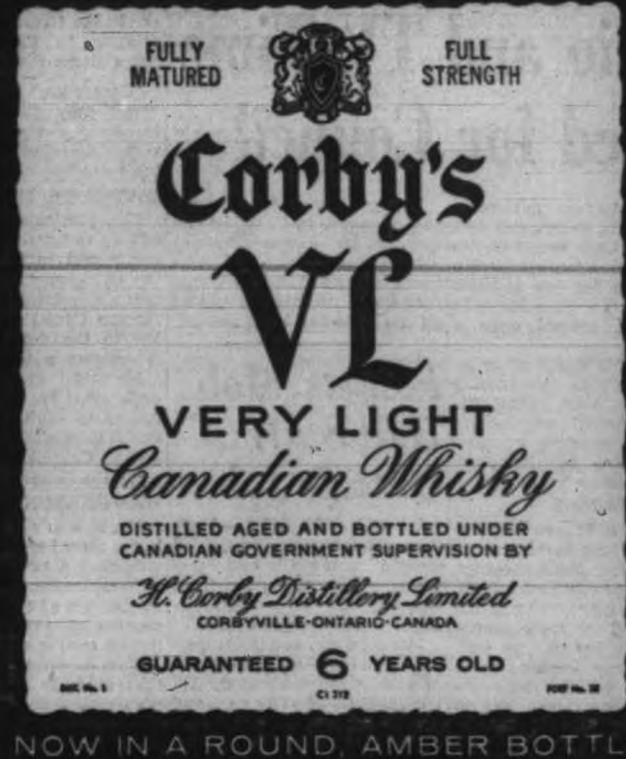

In a return telegram, Francis said: "We value our relationship with you and your company, and, of course, we regret that you feel as strongly as you do about that broadcast. However, we cannot grant your request."

ONLY ADVERTISER

Francis said Shick was the only advertiser to complain about the program, which was shown nationally last Sunday.

In Chicago, the Kemper Insurance Company said it has cancelled its sponsorship of an ABC network news show because of Hiss' appearance.

Two Bruised Gallants Settle Fight Over Girl

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joseph Felsstein and Jason Misonne, both bearing bruises, filed criminal complaints of assault Wednesday because of the fight they had over a female inmate.

"He stole my girl," Misonne said. Felsstein replied, "Who needs her? I've got one of my own."

The judge ordered them to shake hands. Felsstein is 31, Misonne 32.

Radio and TV Time Urged for Council

Some aldermen get more publicity than others and Ald. J. L. McLean would like to even up the score by having the city pay for five minutes of radio or TV time for each member of council once a year.

He said this would allow an accounting of their stewardship during the year, with the "modern media" supplanting the annual meeting of ratepayers which was killed by poor attendance years ago.

GOOD COVERAGE

Mayor R. B. Wilson said Victoria was "very fortunate" in the press and radio coverage given here to city hall affairs. "We have more information disseminated by these means than most cities do," he said.

Ald. Arthur Dowell wants the city to sell the four-acre Mountain View home site to Oak Bay and will arrange a meeting between the finance committee of the two municipalities to discuss the possibility of agreeing on terms.

Mayor Wilson, Ald. Dowell, City Manager C. C. Wynn and Council member James Bramley will decide when and how much of the $1,115,000 parking debentures should be placed on the Canadian bond market.

Pickets, Mob Halt Staff Outside Job

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 100 demonstrators joined pickets Thursday and prevented supervisory staff from entering the struck Canada Metal Company plant here.

U.S. Columbia Stories 'Loaded'

Editors Cautioned

By TERRY HAMMOND
(Colonist Legislative Reporter)

British Columbia Attorney General Robert Bonner has urged Canadian news media to use caution and an analytical eye in the treatment of stories relating to Columbia River negotiations with the U.S.

"Otherwise," he warned, "they may find themselves involuntary members of the very determined U.S. bargaining team."

WATCH U.S. ITEMS

He particularly cautioned editors to watch items of U.S. origin and to ask themselves the question, "Is this fact or is it a calculated attempt to influence Canadian public opinion to the detriment of our bargaining position?"

He said it should be clearly understood he was in no way trying to curb discussion or the dissemination of opinions on the Columbia, "in fact the more the better."

WASHINGTON STORY

Mr. Bonner's appeal came 24 hours after the Vancouver Sun published a news story under a Washington, D.C., dateline which quoted anonymous sources as saying B.C.'s Columbia case is all but lost.

The attorney-general said that anybody in Washington who makes such a statement "is not simply guilty of wishful thinking but is almost certainly trying to influence the outcome."

He said the terms under which B.C. settles with the U.S. on the Columbia "represent a tangible and not insubstantial portion of the economic destiny of B.C. in particular and Canada in general."

"They may also represent the political fortunes of not a few figures in the U.S. capital and the American Pacific Northwest."

"With stakes like these, this becomes a deadly serious game in which newspapers and other news media become part of the arsenal."

LEGITIMATE WEAPON?

He said U.S. negotiators, and others whose reputations can soar or plunge with the final outcome, "consider news media and their leverage on public opinion a piece of legitimate weaponry in the quest for tactical advantage."

"Our newspapers should try to avoid becoming one of their weapons," he added.

He said the Vancouver Sun's Washington story was "an obvious ploy to test our morale. It bodes particularly well for us because it shows how determined the U.S. really is. Such determination can only stem from a very strong desire for the benefits of Columbia development—and where desire is strong the price comes high."

ENOUGH FOR DAMS

The price which B.C. is asking for its 1,300,000 kilowatts of downstream Columbia power is enough money to build the three B.C. Columbia Treaty dams and a 1,800,000-kilowatt power plant at one of them.

If the U.S. doesn't agree to a price which will induce B.C. to control the Columbia then the Americans get no power at all.

Columbia talks between B.C. and the U.S. suspended briefly during the American election campaign, are due to resume in December.

Police Seek Student's Companion

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—Police across Canada have been asked to watch for Karelly Marsi, 32, wanted for questioning in the disappearance of a university student from France.

Henri Moriguet, 20, a student at the University of Grenoble, France, was last seen Aug. 26 on an isolated stretch of Alaska Highway on the Yukon-British Columbia border, 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton.

YOUTH SEEN

RCMP uncovered a young man resembling Moriguet was seen at Mile 733 of the all-gravel highway in a car driven by Marsi, alias Karl Morion, alias Sigmund Teglas.

Moriguet came to the Yukon to visit his grandfather who worked in the Dawson City region during the 1898 gold rush.

He returned here from Dawson Aug. 30, and began to hitch-hike south on the highway. Moriguet said he planned to return to Montreal, where he would board a ship bound for France.

Neither the youth nor Marsi has been seen since the report from a service station operator at Mile 733.

NOT FOUL PLAY

"We have no facts to suspect foul play," an RCMP spokesman said. "But it seems rather strange they both should disappear."

RCMP were called into the case when Moriguet's parents failed to receive letters from their son after Sept. 3, and appealed for help to Robert Picard, consul for France in Vancouver.

First Bank in B.C. To Mark 75th Year

The 75th anniversary of the first permanent bank to be opened in B.C. will be marked by the seven Victoria district offices of the Bank of Montreal here Monday.

The first B.C. office opened in Vancouver in 1887 when the city was in its infancy with a population of a mere 10,000.

Victoria's first branch was opened four years later in April and became the second Bank of Montreal in B.C.

Since that time the bank has opened 126 offices throughout the province with seven in the Victoria area, 50 in the Greater Vancouver area and 76 elsewhere in the province.

The bank's growth in B.C. has followed a pattern set with the establishment of the parent bank in 1817 by the founding of the Canadian branch-banking system.

Today the Bank of Montreal has more than 900 offices in Canada and abroad.

Pilot Testifies:

Engineer's Mistake Cost Plane Engine

NEW YORK (AP)—A flight engineer who lost his life in the ditching of an airliner in the Atlantic last Sept. 23 caused the loss of one engine by turning a lever by mistake, the pilot testified Wednesday.

The Flying Tiger Airline Constellation lost three of its four engines — one after another — before ditching. The tragedy killed 28 of the 76 persons aboard.

Capt. John D. Murray, the pilot, told a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing he might have been able to limp into Shannon, Ireland, on two engines.

Murray said the engineer, James E. Garrett Jr., 30, told him he had "goofed" after the first engine caught fire by turning a handle which shut off a valve connected to an engine not giving trouble. This engine oversped and had to be shut down, the pilot said.

By DON MATHEWSON

Brain-teaser: Now that the postman is arriving at the front door half an hour later than he used to, can he still deliver the mail 24 hours earlier?

Answer: If the area is Greater Victoria, yes. (Obviously, or we wouldn't have asked the question.)

Postmaster Alan Davies explained how, yesterday. He was answering a rural route complaint that the mail wasn't arriving early in the day any more.

It's complicated. But changed Vancouver-Victoria transportation schedules; an increase in letter-carrier "walks" and mail-mobile service in Cordova Bay actually mean some mail is being delivered 24 hours faster.

Step-by-step:

• The same mail (parcels, newspapers, magazines) that used to arrive at 5:30 a.m. via CPR Nanaimo now arrives at 11:30 the evening before, via Tsawwassen-Sidney.

• Mail sorters, who used to begin work on the same mail at 7 a.m. have been moved to night shift and start at midnight.

• Under the old arrival time, the mail wasn't delivered the same day. Now it is. (Gain of 24 hours.)

• Some letter carriers and rural route delivery men used to be allowed to get away from the post office at 8 a.m., but, after some necessary shifts, now get away half an hour later, but still at the long-time authorized scheduled 8:30 a.m.

• Afternoon people now receive their letters (as distinct from magazines, etc.) 24 hours sooner. The largest letter receipts (all letters arrive in Victoria by air) now come in between 10 and 11 a.m.

• Carriers in outlying districts, formerly couldn't get back to the main post office at noon. Now, with mailmobiles, they come in, re-sort the letter mail, and go out for the afternoon deliveries. (Gain of 24 hours.)

So, to repeat, if the mailman shows up later, he's actually earlier. Clear?

For Competition

Struck Publisher Offers Union Aid

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver publisher Thursday offered to help striking workers set up a business to compete with him. The strikers turned him down.

Howard Mitchell, president of Mitchell Press Ltd., made the offer in a letter to Earl Kinney, president of the Vancouver local of the Amalgamated Lithographers of America.

AVOID TROUBLES
Mr. Mitchell said Kinney was always telling him how the union could teach him how to avoid many of the troubles of the industry and this was its chance to prove it.

Two dozen members of the union have been on strike against Mitchell Press for 2½ months.

"You pointed out that if we operated well we could easily afford to pay the higher scales you demanded," Mr. Mitchell wrote.

USING KNOW-HOW
"A practical demonstration of these benefits of management using the know-how within your union personnel is possible under this plan. Your earning and wage-paying experience then could perhaps become your strongest argument in future negotiations."

Mr. Mitchell sent copies of the letter to striking workers. In a statement issued by Mr. Kinney later, the union said: "The obvious absurdity of the proposal makes it evident that Mr. Mitchell never intended that it should be taken seriously. It is recognized as nothing more nor less than strike-breaking propaganda in every way consistent with the strike-breaking campaign of the organized employers so bitterly resented in recent weeks by all trade unions."

Partial Steps In Columbia 'Ease Costs'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal MP Jack Davis proposed Thursday partial development of the Columbia River for power would ease financing problems.

The Coast-Capilano MP said there should be an interim Canada-U.S. agreement for building Mica dam near Revelstoke, the largest of three storage dams already proposed in the treaty which has yet to be ratified by Canada.

Mr. Davis, the Liberal party's power spokesman, said his proposal would reduce costs from $400,000,000 to $225,000,000.

"We are getting to the point where the Americans are ready to wash their hands of the Columbia project," Mr. Davis said. "We had better come up with a positive program."

Amalgamation Result Is New Racquet Club

Amalgamation of Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club with Victoria Squash Club was announced last night, along with plans for a long-term $300,000 project to fully develop facilities of the new organization, to be known as The Racquet Club of Victoria.

BIG MAJORITY

Membership of Victoria Tennis and Badminton Club passed with a substantial majority all five resolutions presented by its executive, which has been studying the amalgamation since it was first proposed, in 1959, that the club's activities be expanded.

In presenting its proposals, the directorate said it had worked to come up with a program that can be handled a bit at a time until the entire project is completed. Thus the first phase will be to build new locker room facilities and squash courts at a cost of approximately $60,000.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Remainder of the program would include additional office space, up-grading and conversion of existing locker areas for junior members, perhaps addition of a new lounge over the new locker space, and extension of the existing badminton lounge.

Amalgamation will become official April 1, 1963, and will enable the Racquet Club of Victoria to provide facilities for badminton, tennis, squash and swimming as well as a social program.

Club is stressing the family approach, with coaching for both juniors and adults. At the present, facilities include five badminton courts and 12 tennis courts, nine of them grass courts and three hard courts. In addition, the club boasts a widely patronized 60x28 swimming pool for a steadily growing membership which now stands at about 450.

West Coast Proves Tonic for Veterans

As in baseball, the West Coast is a boon for veteran hockey players. Latest Western Hockey League scoring statistics show that 35-year-old Phil Maloney and 37-year-old Bob Solinger are challenging for the point championship.

Maloney, almost the whole offense for the surprising Vancouver Canucks, leads with 23 points, including the league high of 15 assists. Next come a pair of comparative youngsters of 23, Bruce Carmichael of Los Angeles Blades and Ed Panagabko of San Francisco Seals and Solinger.

Carmichael has 20 points, Solinger and Panagabko 19. 35-year-old Nick Mickoski of San Francisco is close up with 18 points. The 31-year-old Len Haley leads in goals with 11 but the San Francisco veteran has only one assist.

Youngsters, however, lead in penalties. Larry McKabb of the Seals is out in front of another sophomore, Connie Madigan of Spokane Comets, 53 minutes to 46.

To Stop at 299?

One victory shy of 300 win mark, Early Wynn, 42, has been cleared by Chicago White Sox to seek front office job elsewhere in baseball. If none is available, he will train with White Sox and go for the one victory next season.

Award Voted To Drysdale

BOSTON (UPI)—Fireballer Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, whose 25 victories made him the National League's biggest winner since 1956, has been named winner of the Cy Young Award as the major league's pitcher of the year.

The 26-year-old right hander, who never won more than 17 games in any previous big league season, received 14 of the votes cast by the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Jack Sanford, 24-game winner for the San Francisco Giants, was second in the voting with four votes and one vote each went to the 23-game winner Bob Purkey of the Cincinnati Reds and 16-game winner Billy Pierce of the Giants.

Liston Gets His Warning In Losing Verbal Match

LOS ANGELES—In one room, Archie Moore sat with tears in his eyes. In another, Cassius Clay gleefully pronounced himself the greatest fighter in the world.

"Ain't I beautiful?" he told a female admirer. "I'm the greatest, and I'm also the double greatest, because I took him out in four just like I told you I would."

"If it was up to me, I'd fight Liston right now; I'll go put on my trunks and fight him right now."

Liston had another view. Earlier he had suggested he should fight Moore and Clay at the same time in even things up, "like a tag team match." After watching the fight he told Clay:

"You last eight seconds with me, and I'll give you the fight."

LOS ANGELES

Cassius Clay, a cocky kid with the burning conviction he is destined to be heavy-weight champion, called the shot here last night with a fourth-round knockout that probably wrote the finish to the fantastic career of Archie Moore.

Again and again Clay had told anyone who would listen that he would stop Moore in four rounds, win a shot at Sonny Liston, and beat him for the heavy-weight title. And it was at 1:35 of the fourth that Moore went down and out last night.

A SLAUGHTER

As a capacity crowd of 15,000 looked on, the unbeaten Louisville sensation literally hammered Moore into submission on his way to his 18th straight professional victory. Moore went down three times, and after the third time, referee Tommy Hart didn't even bother to count.

"No single punch really knocked him out," Hart said before leaving the ring. "Cassius just poured the gloves into him, and I knew Archie was through."

STARTED IN THIRD

The end actually started in the third round when Clay, three inches taller and with a much longer reach, smashed three good rights to the jaw. Moore, wobbling on his feet, backed into the ropes, and it took all his skill to get out of the round.

Moore was able to answer the bell for the fourth, but this was not the ring legend who had fought and beaten the best in the world. This was a tired, pudgy old man, coming out to finish a fight he knew he could not win.

A left and right stunned him and sent him tumbling to the canvas. He lurched up at the count of eight, only to go down again for a count of six.

ONLY TWICE

Again he got up, but he could barely hold up his arms, and Clay's punishing blows ripped through his feeble attempts at defense. A vicious right to the head clubbed him to the floor for the third and final time, and Clay's prediction had come true.

It made quite a picture. Cassius Clay, a fighter on the way up, standing over a legend who had been fighting long before Clay was born and had tried to fight once too often.

Clay is 20 years old, a 1960 light-heavyweight champion with 16 professional fights. Moore is 46 or 49, depending on whether you believe him or his mother.

FIGHT NO. 220

When he met Clay last night, he was making his 220th ring appearance, and he had won 135 of those fights by knockouts, going down for the count only seven times himself.

Moore's mother claims he was born Dec. 13, 1913, in Benoit, Mass., which would make him nearly 49. Moore himself says he was born Dec. 13, 1916, in Collinsville, Ill.

In any case, his first known fight was in 1936, and since then he has fought everywhere from Toronto to Tasmania. Ring Record Book lists Moore's fights in almost every major city in the United States and Canada, in Europe, Spain, Australia, Argentina, Mexico and Uruguay.

RETIRED IN 1941

He actually retired once in 1941, but came back and finally got a chance at the light-heavyweight title in 1953, defeating Joey Maxim. He ruled the division in a class by himself until about two years ago when age and reflexes began to let him down.

"He was very impressive. He was everything I thought he wasn't. I'm not going to knock him. I've never knocked any man after a fight. He has a very good chance against Liston. If he can keep away from him, he will do all right."

"He has everything going for him," Archie said. "Speed—and that little thing called youth."

Forming New League Ends Travel Problem

Basketball officials have solved the travel problems that have plagued the Saanich Suburban Basketball League for so long.

They've done it by forging the Peninsula League, a sanctioned division of the SSBL which will handle 32 teams in juvenile, bantam, midget and pre-midget boys' and girls' teams from Cordova Bay, Saanich, Sidney and Brentwood Bay areas.

Formation of the new division eliminates the 88-mile (return) trips to Sooke that were keeping some youngsters up far too late. As things stand now, doubleheaders on school nights will be over by 9:30, with no long trip home.

Game nights will be Tuesday at North Saanich High School, Wednesday at Cordova Bay Community Hall, Friday at Brentwood Community Hall and Saturday at Saanich. Friday and Saturday schedule calls for triple-headers, the Tuesday and Wednesday schedule for two games.

League opens tonight at Brentwood Community Hall, when Brentwood and Saanich midget boys play at 7:30. Brentwood and Sidney bantams clash at 8:30, and Cordova

Canadians Say:

U.S. Case Unjustified

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON (CP) — The British Columbia lumber industry argued Thursday that U.S.

lumber producers had failed to substantiate demands for higher tariffs on Canadian softwood. The Americans countered they had justified their appeal for a six-fold tariff increase along with quota restrictions.

Argument by both sides was presented to the U.S. tariff commission in the form of final statements on the question of whether restrictions should be imposed on imports which U.S. producers maintain are swamping the market and throwing U.S. lumbermen out of work.

The National Lumber Manufacturers Association demanded a tariff boost to $5 from the present $1 for each 1,000 board feet of Canadian softwood; a reduction of Canada's present 15-per-cent share of the U.S. market to 10 per cent, and marking of lumber to show country of origin so federal purchasing agencies can give preference to American production.

The Council of B.C. Forest Industries denied that the U.S. lumber industry is suffering serious injury and said in any event "there is no injury to the softwood lumber industry which can be properly attributed in major part to Canadian imports."

The council argued there is "no abnormal idling of productive facilities" and that American producers are getting a "reasonable profit."

U.S. CUBS BLAMED

The U.S. industry's troubles, the council suggested, could be attributed to American legislative restrictions on shipping which force U.S. producers to pay higher shipping costs; competition from substitute products; a shortage of timber partly because the U.S. exported a lot of logs to Japan, and the quality and availability of domestic and Canadian lumber.

Under President Kennedy's new Trade Expansion Act, the commission in deciding whether to recommend tariff adjustments because of alleged injury from imports, must consider whether the injury resulted "in major part" from previous American tariff concessions.

Goodwill Donations Flowing

Donations of clothing and used goods are still pouring in to Goodwill headquarters following a drive last week-end which saw 35 tons of goods collected by the organization which helps the handicapped.

Nearly 300 calls have been received by people who were missed in the drive and by others who provide the routine, year-round flow of goods to the Goodwill warehouse.

Collections for the enterprise go on throughout the year, but have been unusually high during the past week because of the remnants still being picked up from Saturday's drive, said Jim Hill of Goodwill, who helped organize the drive.

Prize Lamb Costs $3.25 A Pound

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A near-perfect 91-pound lamb entered by Dixie Reed of Salmon Arm sold for a record $3.25 a pound at the Provincial Winter Fair here Thursday.

The price topped the high bid of $3.00 paid at this year's Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. Prices were generally up over 1961.

The grand champion steer, owned by Arthur Hartman of Bridesville, brought $117.50, a hundredweight.

Kamloops Meat Company, which purchased the grand champion lamb, donated the animal to the Royal Inland Hospital. It was then sold to Cherry Creek Ranch for $1.10 a pound, with the money going to the hospital.

Production Forum

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Productivity Council announced Thursday night it will make "a positive attempt" to set up a national forum of top-level management, labor and government representatives.

TO MEET REGULARLY

"It will meet regularly to study Canadian economic developments and trends and recommend common economic goals for labor and management in the national interest," said a council statement.

The statement, issued at the close of a council meeting, quoted Chairman H. George DeYoung as saying leaders of national management and labor groups will be invited to join in the forum along with senior government officials.

BEING DISTRIBUTED

The statement said nothing more about the proposed forum. However, it noted that copies of the productivity council's recent labor-management-government mission to Europe are being distributed widely to labor and management organizations, educational institutions and government departments and agencies.

The report pinpointed "serious gaps" in management-labor-government consultation in dealing with Canadian economic and social problems.

The council's next national joint labor-management seminar will be held at the University of Saskatchewan Jan. 23-24. It is the third of a series.

Decree Splits Theologians

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A draft decree on "the sources of revelation" appeared yesterday to have underscored again differences between the so-called conservative and progressive delegates to the Ecumenical Council. According to Roman Catholic doctrine, there are two sources of revelation — the Bible and tradition. There is little dispute between the Catholic Church and other Christian churches on the Bible, although sometimes churches do not recognize sources based on tradition.

Thus the debate will have an important effect on the long-range goal of the council—Christian unity.

The council opened discussions on the touchy theological subject Wednesday. Debate was described as "lively."

Speakers, who included 11 cardinals, fell into three categories: Those who supported the decree, those who opposed it and those who demanded that the decree while accurate "on the whole must be perfected."

There was no session Thursday but a number of council fathers met in various groups. Probably the most important meeting was that of theological and Biblical scholars at the secretariat of Christian unity which is headed by Augustin Cardinal Bea, a leader of the so-called Progressive Fathers.

The decree was drawn up by the council's theological committee which is headed by Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani. As secretary of the powerful congregation of the holy office of the Vatican, he ranks second only to Pope John on matters of faith and morals. The Italian-born Cardinal Ottaviani is considered the leader of the conservative group.

Charlotte Packs Pistol

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton, who used her flats and feet in a board of control argument Tuesday, started controllers Thursday when she produced a gun—a toy cap pistol.

Controller Paul Tardif, the party pummelled by the fiery little mayor in the earlier tiff, jumped from his seat in alarm.

Miss Whitton confirmed the gun was a toy by breaking the pistol at the breach and waving it aloft. Later, Mr. Tardif asked the mayor whether the cap pistol was loaded. "No," she said. "I wouldn't waste a three-cent cap on you."

When Mayor Whitton asked the controllers into her office for an in-camera meeting, Mr. Tardif said:

"I'll go into no in-camera session with you, it's as much as my life is worth."

Converts Sought

Priest Acquitted Of Threatening Sect

STURGEON FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A French-speaking Roman Catholic priest was acquitted Thursday on a charge of threatening violence to five Jehovah's Witnesses who were seeking converts in his parish.

Rev. Walter Bradley was accused of threatening the five when they arrived in nearby River Valley July 8, the day of the annual parish picnic.

TRESPASSING? One of the complainants, Eugene Tubman, testified earlier that Father Bradley had said: "If you people go across the tracks the people can shoot you because you are trespassing on their property . . . if you go across the tracks be prepared for an accident."

At the beginning of his written judgment, magistrate M. G. Gould said: "I have attempted to avoid becoming entangled in the bitter feelings which this incident has aroused, also to avoid the temptation to pose as an arbiter of morals."

"It appears to me that the defendant's undoubted attempt to order the complainants out of the village was incompatible with principles accepted in this country."

The magistrate said he was "not impressed" with the evidence of David Convery, another of the complainants.

Big Slate Planned By Socreds

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Social Credit party will run 40 to 45 candidates in the Dec. 14 Manitoba election, a spokesman said Thursday.

Fifty-seven seats will be at stake in the election. The spokesman said the party will contest at least 15 of the 20 seats in the Winnipeg metropolitan area.

There was only one Social Credit member in the last house.

Britain, ECM Give Leeway To Africans

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Britain and ministers of the European Common Market agreed Thursday that African countries which have rejected association with the market when Britain joins should be allowed to apply later.

The agreement followed two hours of talks between British Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath and ministers of the six-member trading bloc.

It was also agreed that the enlarged community would open negotiations for trade agreements with such African countries when Britain becomes a market member.

Radio Station Fined $25

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Radio station CFPL here was fined $25 Thursday for exceeding the time allotted by the Board of Broadcast Governors for commercials during the week of May 13-19. The station pleaded guilty.

Broadcasting logs showed the station devoted 1,564 minutes to commercials during the week. Under BBG regulations, only 1,500 minutes are permitted.

Hobo Killed

ANTHONY, N.M. (AP) — A Southern Pacific freight train derailed in the southern New Mexico desert Wednesday night killed at least one hobo. Eight other injured were taken to an El Paso, Tex., hospital.

New Mexico state police said there may be other victims in the twisted wreckage.

Beard Ban Not Political

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Beards have been banned at Mexico City College. Officials said the ban had nothing to do with Fidel Castro. They said they disapproved of the beatnik persuasion.

U.S. Man Deported

'Give Him Our Love'

By JACK FREY

A deportation order was waiting at Patricia Bay Airport last night for Gilbert John Hostar, who earlier in the day received a deferred sentence in Tacoma for burning down his home near Eatonville, Wash., on July 27.

Mr. Hostar, who hoped to rejoin his wife and five children at his home at 1404 Taunton Road, Victoria, arrived at the airport about 4:30 p.m. with Victoria private investigator Conrad Watling, on a Trans-Canada Air Lines flight from Seattle.

He was served the deportation order by immigration officer Harry Tobin, and released in custody of the airlines to be taken back to Seattle on the 9:30 p.m. flight.

He said he would probably try to find work on some farm at Blaine, near the B.C. border, while he appeals the order.

With tears in his eyes, he said he would not telephone his wife because he said his goodbyes to the family Wednesday when he left here to face trial.

A TCA official paid for Mr. Hostar's supper in the airport restaurant. "I'll pick up the tab for this gentleman, but not the others," he told a waitress. "What have you got that they haven't got?" asked the woman with a pleasant smile.

Mr. Hostar said nothing. He had a wife and five children who face bleak uncertainty because of the deportation order in his pocket.

A friend telephoned the news to Mrs. Hostar. "Tell him we still love him," replied the wife. Neighbors had brought candy to the children and tried to console her, after learning of the family's plight in the Colonist, she added.

The deportation order signed by Mr. Tobin stated that, on the basis of evidence from a "further examination" held at the airport, Mr. Hostar could not stay here because he was not a Canadian citizen, did not have a Canadian domicile and was a member of the prohibited class of persons in that he was in a "paranoid state."

He said the only reference to Mr. Hostar's state of mind in the report he gave immigration was a statement that if no evidence was turned up in the American court trial that Mr. Hostar was being persecuted, "I'm afraid it must be disillusionment."

In Tacoma yesterday, Mr. Hostar was given a four-year deferred sentence by Superior Judge Frank Hale and ordered to take psychiatric treatment.

Approved by Board

Teachers Gain 4.07 Per Cent Salary Increase

Greater Victoria's school teachers will take home an average 4.07 per cent larger pay cheque in 1963.

The "cost-of-living type" wage award was approved unanimously last night by the school board. Teachers had earlier accepted the terms, reached after a four-hour negotiation Tuesday.

Cost of the increase, which goes as high as 6.65 per cent for some categories, is an overall $221,930.

Teachers originally asked for a 12 per cent pay boost.

Negotiating chairman David Logan told board members "the bare minimum that we could offer was 3 1/2 per cent ... I was satisfied to land at 4 per cent."

"We didn't want arbitration ... it's much better for the teacher-trustee relationship to reach a negotiated settlement," he added.

'NOT ENTIRELY FAIR'

But he said he did not think the pay raise was "entirely fair" in the way it was distributed over various scales and categories.

"To my way of thinking it is somewhat unfair to elementary teachers," Mr. Logan said.

NEARLY IDENTICAL

Island and metropolitan scales for the elementary teachers are nearly identical.

Increases for principals and vice-principals were deferred and three-man committees have been set up by both board and teachers to study the problem. Both groups may increase committee membership.

The new salary scales become effective January 1, 1963.

City Board:

Higher Pay 'Right'

Some Greater Victoria school teachers may have higher salaries than most of their brethren elsewhere on the Island—but they're only making up for lost time.

John Williams of Sooke school board said Wednesday that the 1963 Greater Victoria salary increase was "fantastically high in at least two categories."

INCREASES REACHED

But Victoria's school board officials pointed out last night the increases were reached after 13 and 14 years' service.

Maximum pay was reached in the same categories in Sooke after 11 years.

While the Victoria maximum was higher, Victoria board officials said, Sooke teachers were as much as "$300 to $400 ahead" on yearly salaries at earlier points in the scale of annual automatic raises, or increments.

YEARLY PAY

In the case of the 14-year increment pattern, Victoria teachers' yearly pay only equalled the Sooke scale at the 12-year level, the officials said.

Gas Stations Going Wide Open

Gas station operators in Victoria yesterday voted in favor of unrestricted hours of opening.

The vote was 45 to 27 in favor of 24-hour opening for those operators who wished it. A total of 75 out of 93 operators who qualified for yesterday's vote actually cast ballots at city hall.

City council, which meets this afternoon, will now implement the bylaw which it drew up before asking operators for their views. If the measure had been defeated, the city would probably have instituted a permit system under which only 10 local gas stations could remain open 24 hours.

More Voters In City

A slight increase in the number of voters eligible for the Dec. 13 election in Victoria was predicted yesterday by city hall officials. Last year the voters list contained 20,375 names.

Typing of the new voters list was completed yesterday, and final adjustments to the total will be made at a court of revision to be held in the council chamber at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

MAYOR CHAIRMAN

Mayor R. B. Wilson will be chairman of the court whose members are Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. A. W. Toone.

The sitting of the court is a formality at which city clerk Frank Hunter presents a list of names of new property owners to be added to the voters list, along with those to be struck off because of death or change of address.

Resident and tenant electors whose names were not listed had a two-month period up to Oct. 31 to place their names on the roll of voters. The revised, up-to-date voters list will be available in the city clerk's office Nov. 28, price 50 cents.

Nominations for four aldermanic seats and one seat on Greater Victoria school board close at 2 p.m. Dec. 6.

Humanist Group Seeks Members

The Victoria Humanist Association is out for new members, and anyone who deplores the path being followed by today's materialistic society and would like to see a return to the ideals of fellowship and altruism, should phone Mrs. Marian Sherman at GR 7-1902.

GEORGE CURRAN ... speed school building

Trustee Seeking New Term

Trustee George Curran announced yesterday he will seek re-election Dec. 6 as a Saanich member of Greater Victoria school board.

Mr. Curran advocates intensive planning in the months ahead to meet future accommodation needs in School District 61, which has registered unexpectedly large growth in enrolments in many areas.

START WORK EARLY

"We have to start work early next year on the planning of a new building bylaw for presentation to ratepayers later in 1963," he said.

Our projected enrolments in the last year or two have been very conservative, resulting in an urgent need to speed-up the current school building program."

Mr. Curran, an accountant employed by Victoria Press Ltd., was first elected as a trustee representing Saanich on the Greater Victoria school board in December, 1960. He filed nomination papers for the coming elections yesterday.

Thalidomide Babies Special Fund Eyed For Drug Victims

Steps will be taken today to set up a special fund for assistance to Vancouver Island families with thalidomide babies, Victoria lawyer Rodney Beavan said yesterday.

START SOCIETY

Mr. Beavan, a friend of a Cordova Bay couple who Monday became parents of a boy who was born without arms after the mother took thalidomide pills early in pregnancy, said he will open a special bank account at the Town and Country branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank.

Later in the day, he will start arrangements for incorporation of a society under the Societies Act to administer the fund in assistance of parents with thalidomide children.

"Many of us would like to help, and owing to the particular nature of the problem special help will be needed for a long time," said Mr. Beavan.

CHANCE FOR PUBLIC

This fund will give the general public a chance to show their feelings for their fellow human beings, especially since there is no indication the government will take any action, he said.

Meanwhile, Health Minister Eric Martin said a move in any federal-provincial assistance scheme is up to the federal government.

NINE B.C. CASES

There have been nine cases of thalidomide victims in B.C., two of them on Vancouver Island. Most recent B.C. victim of the drug was a baby boy without arms born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bamber, 5105 Cordova Bay Road.

Deadline Tonight

United Appeal Missing Target

Greater Victoria's United Appeal campaign ends today with the $360,000 target apparently not reached.

But officials last night declined to speculate on the final total.

MEETING AT NOON

A noon meeting of the Appeal committee will hear how much the campaign received up to 6 p.m. yesterday.

Friday's donations will be added later.

Secretary Art Goff worked late into the night last night on a final accounting "shake-down" to arrive at the total.

End of the long campaign is officially tonight.

LATE DONATIONS

The possibility exists that the committee may decide to leave the campaign open for any late donations that might help reach the target.

Somewhat wistfully, Mr. Goff told the Colonist of London, Ontario, experience this year.

At 6 p.m. Nov. 9, with midnight the end of the London appeal, the fund stood at 99 per cent.

Just $7,900 of the $748,603 target had not been collected.

ANONYMOUS DONOR

At 6:01 p.m., an anonymous donor walked into the office, asked how much was left to go, then pledged to make up any difference between the $7,900 not collected and the target.

So London scored -100 per cent this year.

For Christmas

Evening Shopping Increased

Victorians can shop late downtown seven extra evenings this Christmas season in addition to regular Friday night shopping.

Retail Merchants' group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce reached agreement on the dates last night.

ADDITIONAL NIGHTS

Additional nights where 9 p.m. closing will be observed are three Thursdays: Nov. 22, Dec. 6 and Dec. 13; and Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Dec. 17 to Dec. 20.

Normal Friday night shopping will continue, with regular Saturday closing.

EARLY CHRISTMAS EVE

Regular closing time of 5:30 p.m. will be observed Christmas Eve, so that staff members may spend the evening with their families.

Private School Formula Studied

City finance committee will try to come up with an acceptable formula covering tax exemptions for private schools.

This decision made yesterday at committee level sparked a brief clash between the chairman, Ald. Arthur Dowell and Mayor R. B. Wilson.

'JUST LIKE BUSINESS'

"I'm opposed to granting tax exemptions on any private school," said Ald. Dowell. "Anyone making money by charging for their services is a commercial operation, just like any other business."

"With due respect to Ald. Dowell, no school today is making money," said Mayor Wilson.

NO DIVIDENDS

He added: "I have had some small experience with balance sheets of private schools and I can assure you that none of them paid dividends. There were no profits that did not go back into new buildings and facilities."

"In this respect the schools are quite different from the normal business enterprise."

Ald. Austin Curtis re-opened the subject when he asked the finance committee to recommend that city council reverse last week's decision not to grant further tax exemptions to two private schools.

NOT BEING FAIR

"In the light of new information provided by the city manager, I don't think we are being very fair to the schools in question," Ald. Curtis said.

City manager C. C. Wyatt told the committee that under the formula set up by city hall officials some years ago to provide a yardstick for tax exemptions to private schools, both applications dealt with by council last week would have qualified.

SUPERSEDED IN 1959

But the yardstick was superseded by the 1959 policy decision of council which ruled out further tax exemptions except where mandatory under the Municipal Act.

If council decides in the near future to accept the formula to be proposed by the finance committee, presumably this policy would have to be amended accordingly. But members of the committee made it clear yesterday that any relaxation would be for private schools only.

NUMBER OF PUPILS

The yardstick formerly used in these cases was based on the number of pupils attending the school and standards set by the provincial department of education school building manual.

While both St. Louis' College and St. Patrick's School, the cases under consideration, would have gained the requested exemptions under the old formula, other private school property did not.

In the case of Norfolk House and St. Margaret's only 66 per cent of the school property is tax-exempt.

Hunters Bewitched By Passing Beauty

TALLY HO! At the start of the hunting season, Jim Seranson and Al Lewis were with Rich Howe when he shot his 211-pound buck in the Cayuse area, back of Cowichan Lake. Last week Jim and Al, together with Brian Orr took off for the Big Creek area of the Cariboo with plans to shoot a big moose to even Rich's score. And they saw one, a beauty with a tremendous rack of horns. At the time it happened to be standing between the three men—who were having a cup of coffee—and their Land Rover which held their rifles.

Win Medals For Books

OTTAWA (CP) — A doctor's wife in Port Arthur and a Montreal free-lance writer have won the 1962 medals for the best children's books in English and French.

The Canadian Library Association announced Wednesday that the award winners are Sheila Burnford Scott's wife of Dr. David Burnford of Port Arthur, and Paule Daveluy of Montreal, who won the French award for the second time.

Mrs. Burnford wrote The Incredible Journey, a tale about three family pets that walk 250 miles across Canadian bush to be reunited with their masters. The book was published by Little, Brown Company.

Miss Daveluy's entry was Deole d'Automne (A Strange Autumn), a psychological novel about an underprivileged 12-year-old girl. The publisher was Les Editions du Pelican, Quebec City.

Mrs. Burnford, a mother of three children, holds a pilot's license and is an ardent hunter. She has contributed short stories and poems to Punch and Blackwood's magazines and other publications but this was her first book.

The library association's awards are decided by mail ballots of the whole membership. Mrs. Sonja Noble of Vancouver is chairman of the English award committee.

Frances Stewart of Ottawa has used softly brushed Arnel-viscose plaid in black and blue for a youthful coat with controlled fullness. The silhouette curves inward at bosom. A matching skirt completes the ensemble.

Texans Reduced to Giving Junk

By PATRICIA McCOMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pity the Texas tycoons, drawing up Christmas lists for kinsmen who have everything.

This Yuletide the poor Texans might be reduced to giving junk.

Junk, at least, is one gift suggestion in the annual Christmas shopping book circulated by a Dallas store that caters to folks who have plenty of everything — especially money, oil, cattle.

Yup. You heard right. Junk. It's a Chinese junk made in Hong Kong to the finest U.S. yacht standards—30 feet long, three masts, 30 horsepower. This stocking stuffer costs $11,500.

For twice as much and a little extra for hand-lettering, you can buy a "His" and a "Her" junk. Ideal, you see, for the couple preferring separate vacations. For stay-at-homes, the Santa's helpers at the famed Dallas store (Nieman-Marcus) recommend a little $1,875 pair of cowboy chaps made of white mink and rhinestone studded. The price includes tax.

Other suitable gifts for the folks who have everything include:

A $250 western hat made of the finest felt, a blend of beaver and mink.

A $400 cabinet especially designed to hold roulette wheels, dice, darts and such.

A "little-nothing" platinum ring with gem star ruby and tapered baguette diamonds.

A matched gem emerald and diamond ring with marquise diamonds—$19,500.

Money to burn. This sack of wooden take coins is recommended for toasting in the fireplace. Keeps the hearth cheery.

For the cat who has everything, gold mice. They're imported and made of gold-finished aluminum. Price: $35 a pair.

For the dog who has everything, a red cotton velvet frame for doggie pictures. Price: $6.95.

Some Texans, contrary to rumor, aren't big spenders. Even these have been considered by the Santa's helpers. For skin-flinty Texans, there's a reproduction of a 19th century press. This prevents playing cards and money from curling or warping. It costs only $7.95. But, true to Texas tradition, it looks like real gold.

The treasury department, by the way, gets some competition from the Dallas store this year. The enterprising managers are minting their own money.

Instead of gift certificates, a person buys a bag of the store's coins. They jingle just like real ones.

They come in denominations of $1, $5 or $10.

P.S.—Every gift over $100 gets a free $1 special wrapping. The gifts over $200 get a free $2 Christmas wrapping.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I wouldn't have believed it could happen to me a third time—but it has. My youngest daughter eloped with a fellow she met two months ago at the beach. This gives me a perfect record. I am now the mother-in-law of three bums.

All my girls are beautiful and have lovely figures. This is not just mother-love. They have all won beauty contests. (The oldest won a state title.) My girls are intelligent, they hold fine jobs and could have made good marriages. But, no, they go for men who can't make a living, and kick them around besides.

My oldest daughter has left her husband three times since March. She is never without a black eye or a bruise. The middle girl came home with her suitcase and a broken collar-bone. Her husband drinks and goes off his rocker every Friday night. And now my youngest daughter married a loafer who'd rather collect unemployment compensation than work.

Please explain why girls deliberately choose abusive and unworthy men?—H. S. M.

Dear H. S. M.: Some girls think they can turn that sow's ear into a silk purse. They don't realize that after the bloom is off the romance, any attempt at reform is considered nagging.

Psychiatrists tell us that women who put up with repeated physical abuse are sick. They feel worthless and inferior, and they unconsciously seek out men who will punish them.

I'm afraid I haven't helped you feel any better, mother, but I've tried to answer your question honestly.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a married woman, 44, with a lovely

4-H Members Display Skills At Meeting

Five members of the Seaside 4-H Club gave a demonstration of their abilities at a recent meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association.

Miss Eileen Cronk, leader of the club, explained that 4-H Clubs for boys and girls from 10 to 21 years are operated under the British Columbia Department of Agriculture. Fairs, field days and rallies allow clubs to compete together. A trip to Toronto is awarded to 14 provincial winners each year. A scholarship of $500 is given to the highest standing provincial member who wishes to enter UBC in the school of agriculture or home economics.

Miss Nancy Miller, president of the club and commentator for the evening, was 1962 provincial winner of 4-H judging at the PNE.

Miss Selma Kelly demonstrated a high standard of public speaking in her talk questioning whether the increased use of synthetics would be "The End of Agriculture."

Besides modelling outfits they had sewn, Lynette Lamb, Mary Lord, Jane Elliot, and Nancy Miller gave a two minute talk on their suits and dresses.

The various phases of their training in demonstration, judging, junior leadership and educational displays were shown.

Mrs. C. Branner presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served by Miss Arlie Gale assisted by the executive.

Hadassah Bazaar

Crowds Wait for Door to Open

Before the doors of the Canadian Legion Hall were opened yesterday afternoon for the annual Hadassah bazaar and tea, customers were lined up the steps.

Once inside, it was obvious where the bake tables were situated because of the crowd of buyers wanting bread, rolls and cakes. Also popular was the delicatessen stall with pickles, cold meats and savory pies. There were large platters of ginger bread men and tins of spaghetti and other delicacies shipped from Israel were for sale.

Boss Important To Secretaries

By PATRICIA McCOORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—You've heard of the lowly secretary? Well, now. You haven't heard everything. There's also a highly secretary.

This breed's so high and so exclusive that it's formed a society called the Seraphic Secretaries of America.

The highly secretaries are separated from the lowly secretaries by their job descriptions.

As every lowly secretary knows, the lowly type cranks the mimeograph machine, runs errands, orders the coffee, serves on buttons, waters the plants, fixes the pencil sharpener when it goes blotto—and busies herself with other lowly secretarial chores.

For the word "seraphic" in their organization title, you get some idea of the work performed by the highly secretaries.

The root of seraphic is "seraph"—one of an order of celestial beings. The seraphim usually are ranked as the highest order of angels, immediately above the cherubim.

The highly secretaries aren't very talkative about their duties. Being able to keep secrets is, in fact, one of the requirements if one hopes to be a highly secretary.

But, the Seraphic Secretaries of America says all members do only the highest of secretarial chores. Only they don't like to call them "chores"—a word more easily associated with lowly secretarial work.

What makes the seraphic so elite is the fact that they all work for tycoons. Membership in the society is by invitation only and qualifications depend on the prestige of the boss.

To be a highly secretary it matters not so much what you look like or how much you know as does the title of the boss.

COURT ARBUTUS

Swedish Car Racers

What Kind of Women, Anyway?

By HAROLD Y. JONES
(Copley News Service)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina —When two Swedish blondes eased their big Mercedes Benz across the finish line recently in Argentina's most grueling road race they gave the Argentine male ego a terrible shock.

"A woman's place is in the home," grumbled one man, angrily kicking a clinder off the road. "What kind of women are those Swedes, anyway?"

Whatever they are, they obviously had whatever it takes to win the 2,866-mile, 11-day Grand Prix across some of the roughest terrain in the Western Hemisphere — from the crazy foothills of the Andes to the dusty trails of Argentina's flat, scorched northern desert.

The girls—Ewy Rosqvist and Ursula Wirth—jumped to an early lead on the first sections of the race and they never lost their advantage.

FRONT PAGE
For the first day or two the story stayed back on the nation's sports pages. But as the girls kept winning and breaking records interest increased. They became front-page copy. Men grumbled and consoled each other that the only reason the girls were winning was that their coach was Juan Manuel Fangio, Argentina's great road racer who retired several years ago.

Others said it was because they were driving a good car. But this overlooked the fact that similar cars have competed in previous years and lost.

Still others were convinced that the girls had a helicopter overhead radiating road conditions and warning against curves and hazards. Few males would admit the possibility that the girls might be excellent drivers.

Men in Argentina prefer to think that women can do nothing that men can't do better, except be feminine. The more feminine the woman, the happier the man.

This attitude is reflected in the country's social structure. Women stay home, or become grade-school teachers. Compared with Canada (or Sweden) there are few women lawyers or doctors. Few women go into business. Few become athletes.

Now and then a young lady will distinguish herself on the tennis courts, but this is considered permissible behavior, especially since short-skirted tennis outfits are easy on male eyes.

But a woman in the nuts-and-bolts world of racing? Never?

But if the Argentine men were unnerved by the Swedish girls, Argentine women were thrilled. "You'd think girls like that would be all covered with grease with their hair flying all over," said one matron. "But not these two—their hair is always in place. They're really very pretty." Any Argentine man who had eyes to see was able to figure that out for himself.

"Okay, okay, they're good-looking," said the least gallant of them all. "But I'll bet they're cold."

CUSTARD CREAM

When Facing Court Don't Forget Goat

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Owen Richards took a frond of leaves, broom, dustpan, mop and a goat called Claire to court here yesterday.

He was out to prove leaves are indeed fodder—and to beat a possible $10 fine.

Richards, head of a firm called The Tree People, was charged in mid-October with operating a vehicle wider than the eight-foot limit. Richards was then busy cleaning up the leafy debris of typhoon Frieda.

After being charged, he wrote the chief of police suggesting the charge be dropped—that his work was of an emergency nature.

The chief replied Richards' letter reflected on police intelligence and said the matter should be settled in the usual way.

Richards then borrowed Claire from a man in nearby Port Coquitlam.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge because he says the fine print of the wide-load article permits carriage of hay, straw or fodder.

Magistrate Alfred Watts, showing a amusement, remanded Richards to Jan. 10.

Medicine Cabinet Threat to Unborn

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—If you're pregnant, your medicine cabinet may be one more danger in an already dangerous world for your unborn child and his delicate timetable of life.

Many drugs—from hormones to pain killers—may increase the risk of birth defects in the rapidly-developing embryo, Dr. F. Clarke Fraser of McGill University said Wednesday.

To be safe, no pregnant woman should be given a drug for a nebulous reason, he said. Drugs should only be used if they are necessary to her health.

DEFECTS PRODUCED

There have been cases in which synthetic hormones, given to pregnant women in an attempt to prevent spontaneous abortion, have produced defects in the sexual features of the baby, he told a science writers' seminar at the University of Michigan.

INHIBIT ADDICTION

Narcotics addicts have given birth to babies addicted to the same drug by getting it from the mother's blood. These babies suffer withdrawal symptoms after birth.

Cortisone may produce a cleft palate. Radiation can produce genetic damage directly to the egg cell or to the developing embryo. Vitamin deficiencies also produce defects.

UNICEF Cards Aid Children of World

First-class art, the hand of friendship and help to a child are achieved with the purchase of UNICEF Christmas cards this year.

UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) is again selling Christmas cards designed by artists of the first rank and donated in appreciation of UNICEF for sale all over the world.

TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

The cards, available in Victoria at 784 Fort Street, serve a two-fold purpose: First, as messengers of good will they are distributed and exchanged in nearly every country of the world.

Secondly, their proceeds help provide direct aid to millions of children in the form of food, medicine and care.

PROVIDES VACCINE

It has been deduced that the proceeds of the sale of a single box of these cards can provide vaccine to protect 50 children against tuberculosis.

The cards, easily sold on their own merit, provide a wide selection of colorful reproductions by 14 artists from around the world, painted especially for UNICEF.

The sale of these cards will help the three-quarters of the world's children who are in dire and urgent need to realize the promise of a better future.

Canadian Opera Scoring Hits Across Country

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—Until four years ago thousands of Canadians had never had a chance to see live opera. Today there are opera audiences in small cities and towns from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Corner Brook, Nfld.

The cultural emissaries responsible for this development are members of the Canadian Opera Company's itinerant troupe who, jammed into a 41-passenger bus with seats, props and costumes, take small chamber opera productions from coast to coast.

"Audience reaction is 100 per cent better than it was during our first tour," says Ernest Adams who has not only arranged and managed but sung (he is a baritone) in the company's tours since they began in 1958.

"During the first tour, many audiences would not laugh, we were afraid to applaud for fear they would miss something but now they just relax and enjoy themselves."

Attracting youngsters. The increased interest in opera is especially evident among school children, says Adams. The first year the company did a program of excerpts in a Winnipeg, Ont., school, the soprano had to stop in the middle of a song and ask for silence. Last year, in the same town, all but 12 of 700 students voluntarily attended the company's performance and the attention and response were good.

Until this year, only comedies had been produced for the tour. "To sell opera and develop audiences." But now, with its more sophisticated following, the company is performing the serious and dramatic La Boheme by Puccini.

La Boheme is performed in English as was the Barber of Seville in the 1958-59 season, Merry Wives of Windsor in 1960 and Orpheus in the Underworld in 1961.

Mental Home Beating Trial Starts Nov. 29

Trial of Peter Howard Dootson, 33-year-old psychiatric aide employed at the Wilkin-son Road Mental Home, will likely begin Nov. 29.

This was intimated in Sa-nich police court yesterday when Dootson appeared before Magistrate William Ostler and was remanded to Nov. 22.

HELD IN CUSTODY

Dootson, charged with at-tempting to murder psychiatric nurse Robert Robinson, 64, by striking him with a blunt in-strument and setting fire to him, has been held in custody by Saanich police since his arrest Oct. 20.

RAIL GRANTED

On the application of counsel Alan Bigelow two weeks ago, Dootson was granted bail of $10,000. Dootson has not taken advantage of the bail and has remained in custody.

Yesterday prosecutor Ken-neth Murphy told Magistrate Ostler he understood the earli-est Mr. Bigelow could take part in a trial was Nov. 29.

PATIENT SINCE OCT. 19

Robinson has been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital since he was discovered, beaten and lying on a burning mattress, Oct. 19.

His condition last night was reported as "poor." It is un-derstood Robinson's condition has improved slightly at times dur-ing his 28 days in hospital but he has had relapses.

In city police court yester-day Magistrate Ostler sen-tenced Ray Frederick Cote, 425 Michigan, to 20 days jail for impaired driving.

Cote admitted the offence and also admitted that he had a previous conviction for im-paired driving, Jan. 12, 1958.

Magistrate Ostler cancelled the man's driving licence for 18 months.

Condition Of Victim Called 'Good'

Condition of an aged Chinese who was in collision with a car at Government and Fis-gard late Wednesday night is "good," a spokesman for St. Joseph's Hospital said last night.

Wong Yick, 82, of 358 Fis-gard Street, suffered a deep cut to the back of his head in the accident which occurred at 11:28 p.m. and involved a car driven by Moira Reirre, 1549 Grand Boulevard, North Van-couver.

Wins Approval

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The General Assembly's bud-get committee approved a $2,000,000 expansion program to enable the 110-member world organization eventually to seat 126 delegations at its head-quarters here.

Alexander Rites Today

A woman who was a B.C. old-time, world traveller and relative of the former Cana-dian Governor-General Lord Alexander died in a nursing home Tuesday at 96. Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. yesterday in St. Mary's Angli-can Church.

Mrs. Christian Izod Alexan-der was born Dec. 21, 1865, at Lehigh Bridge, County Car-low, Ireland. She lived with her brother Stephen in Fernie from 1905 to 1914 when they moved to 1237 St. David's in Oak Bay.

One of her favorite experi-ences was attending the Delhi Durbar in 1902 when Edward VII was crowned Emperor of India.

Three nephews in England survive.

$37,000 Set For Land Job At Buildings

The Capital Improvement District Commission has been authorized by the provincial cabinet to spend $37,000 on new property and beautifica-tion in the area surrounding the legislative buildings.

The CIDC will spend $37,000 on property at Nanaimo and Michigan which includes two houses.

A further $5,000 will be used to create a small park on five lots at Oswego and Belleville, which were purchased by the CIDC last year.

The property at Menzies and Michigan is part of a long-range project which will see an expansion of government buildings in the legislative area, including a museum and office blocks.

Garden Notes

Gather the Fallen

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This has been a pretty good year for apples, and in some gardens I have noticed trees which have borne so heavily that a regular carpet of windfalls is lying on the grass—presumably because the owner had such a glut of apples on his hands, he didn't feel it worthwhile to gather up the fallen ones.

It is most important that all windfalls be picked up, even if you have to burn or bury them. They have their uses, you know—pig or poultry keepers would give their eye teeth for your damaged fruit, and sound windfall apples can be used to make apple juice, apple cider or apple wine. But whether you eat, drink, bury or burn them, the important thing is to get all the windfalls away from the tree.

Fallen fruit, lying on the ground, provides an ideal winter resort for all kinds of pests and disease spores. Grubs hibernate in the windfalls, emerging as fully-fledged, egg-laying winged pests in the spring. Brown Rot and a dozen other fruit diseases can live through the winter on them, releasing their airborne fungus spores next year to re-infect your tree, so it really pays to get out there with the garden rake and do a proper clean-up job.

As I have mentioned so many times before, it is equally bad business to leave any fruit hanging on the tree all winter, for these are another common source of infection. The mere fact that the fruit stayed on the tree instead of falling normally is a pretty sure indication that something is wrong, and usually these hangers-on will be dried and mummified fruits by spring, often covered with a white mould and teeming with disease spores. Plums and cherries are very common offenders in this regard.

If any branches need removing from maple or sycamore trees, it would be wise to get the job done before the end of this month. Like the grape vine, the roots of these trees are like incredibly powerful pumps, forcing sap upward under terrific pressure in the early spring, and if pruning is done too late in the season, the wounds will bleed badly when sap flow starts.

When the lopping is done soon after leaf-fall, the cut surfaces have a good chance of forming a callus before a sap movement commences.

Don't forget that the lovely Plane tree—one of our finest ornamentals—is really a sycamore and should have any necessary pruning performed early in the season.

Walnuts and birches are notorious bleeders too. Twigs and branch tips and such small stuff won't lose enough sap to hurt the tree, but a major amputation performed in late winter could result in a massive hemorrhage.

Speaking of pruning, quite a few gardeners seem to be a bit confused as to the correct treatment for their hydrangeas. I have had several letters this past week asking whether these shrubs should be cut back drastically in the fall.

This isn't a good idea at all, for any pruning you do at this time of the year will remove next year's flowers. The buds for the 1963 display are already formed, and as these are carried at or near the tips of the shoots, very little snipping of any kind can be done now without cutting away these buds. Hydrangeas do become overgrown and leggy in time, and should be pruned regularly to preserve a pleasing size and shape, but the time to do it is just after the flowering period.

ART BUCHWALD Interviews Nixon-In a Dream

Me a Sore Loser? Heck, No!

Every once in a while, late at night when we're tucked in bed, we shut our eyes and have a dream interview with some leading statesman or world figure who would not be available to us otherwise. The other night we dreamed we interviewed former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who lost out in the recent governorship race in California.

Mr. Nixon never looked better, and he was in wonderful spirits.

He said, "I'm delighted to be able to talk to you, as I have the highest admiration for people in your profession."

"Then you're not upset about losing the election?"

"Heavens, no! In American politics it isn't who wins or loses but how we played the game that counts. I admire the way Gov. Brown ran his campaign and I think he deserved to win."

"But don't you think he made some vicious charges against you and your family?"

"That's just politics. I never took the charges seriously. In this business you've got to have a sense of humor. I'm proud to say I never lost my temper once during the campaign and even in defeat I've been the first one to laugh."

"Sir, there have been rumors that you felt the press was unfair to you during the campaign and that they didn't report what you said accurately."

"Now where would a rumor like that ever start? Some of my best friends are newspaper men, and I think everyone learned over backwards to report my campaign without fear or prejudice."

"Do you feel that Gov. Brown accused you of lack of patriotism or lack of heart during the contest?"

"What a ridiculous question! I would be a sore loser if I said that he questioned my patriotism during the campaign. Do you think I'm a sore loser?"

"Heck, no. Not in this dream anyway," we replied.

"Well, that's the kind of guy I am. I wouldn't want people to think otherwise."

"What are your plans for now?" we asked him.

"Well, I might run for congressman and if I lose I might then run for state assemblyman, and if I lost that, I think I would make a good city councilor. I enjoy the give and take of politics, and besides it's the best way I can keep in touch with all my friends of the fourth estate."

"Mr. Nixon never looked better, and he was in wonderful spirits."

SHEILAH GRAHAM'S News and Gossip

Tempest in a Bathtub

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Lana Turner says she will sue unless every last print is destroyed of that bathtub photo in Who's Got the Action? when an exuberant prop man jumped in with her. Fun's fun and all that, but this was going too far.

It was funny with Melina Mercouri in Hollywood. All the stars wanted to see her, but Melina was more interested in seeing them. . . . I wonder why Marlene Dietrich turned down the role of the elegant mother in the movie version of Toys in the Attic? Gene Tierney has completed the part.

Jack Lemmon would love to buy the Ann Sothern home in Bel Air for his new bride Felicia Farr. But not enough to pay the $300,000 Ann is asking for the spacious estate with pool, tennis court and outdoor soda fountain.

Ava Gardner was explaining her insecurity to a friend in Madrid. "When I was a girl in North Carolina, I had one dress only, and I wouldn't go to parties because I was afraid I'd be laughed at. It was a long time ago, but the scar is still there." At least Ava is financially secure. She hadn't made a movie in America in 10 years and has always been able to keep most of her $500,000-per-picture salary. In brief, she is rich.

But Van Johnson's father, a plumber, has never worried about wealth or any kind of security. He still lives in his half of the two-story house in Newport, R.I., where Van was born. He is around 80 years old, but still works now and then at his trade. He has never been to New York or to Hollywood. In brief, a happy man.

Lotte Lenya, who is 64 and doesn't care, will return to London next year to appear again on the stage there. Meanwhile she is honeymooning with her 37-year-old bridegroom, Russell Detwiler, who tried for five years to make Lotte his bride before succeeding. Lotte, the widow of composer Kurt Weill, is a fascinating woman. Mr. Detwiler is lucky.

Sammy Davis Junior will move his whole family to New York while he is starring on stage in the musical version of Golden Boy. Having adopted a little boy recently, Sammy and wife, May Britt, have put in an order for a girl. They have a small daughter of their own.

I don't believe that Jackie Gleason and George Gobel have ever worked together in a film. But they will, if producer-writer Aaron Spelling has his way. Aaron—his wife is Carolyn Jones, has written for them a slapstick comedy titled, Hold Fast, The Steering Wheel is Stuck.

Buddy Ebsen, star of the No. 1 TV show, The Beverly Hillbillies, was told a few short years ago by his agent, "You've had it. I suggest you quit the business and start selling insurance." Buddy didn't quit—he changed agents.

JOHN CROSBY Interprets Stony Symbolism

Wriggling Statues Tell Their Stories

I like statuary that tells a story. You can have all that modern stuff, a slab of granite with a hole in it called "Abstraction, 22." Me, I like a lot of wriggling bodies doing things to one another and I'd rather figure who's doing what to whom by myself because, frankly, my explanations I find more plausible than those of the sculptor.

Paris is full of wriggling statuary. For instance, in the Tuileries, near one of the fountains, there's a marvelous group of marble bodies. Everybody ready? At the center there's a bearded angel (bearded angel? How many of those do you know?) who is carrying off a naked lady who doesn't like it a bit. She's yelling.

Baroque Sculptors Bunch of Sadists

naked lady and she doesn't like this much either. She's squawking. Parenthetically, I ought to mention that baroque sculpture is full of people being stepped on by other people, frequently by horses and sometimes by goats. The sculptors explain these things by saying that is the only way to get them into the design. My own theory is that they're just a bunch of sadists who like to carve people stepping on other people.

Anyhow, these people are trying to tell us something. But what? Well, take the wings on that guy. Well, the guy's an actor, see, and he's got a bit part in Green Pastures.

bearded angel. (This bit of Tuileries is awash with bearded angels, if you like bearded angels.) This fellow is carrying off a naked lady, too, but this one seems to like it. She's got her mouth closed and she's sort of combing her hair with her hands.

In this case the person being trampled on (there's always somebody down there) is a man and he's yelling. What's he yelling? "Why don't you watch where ya going?"

Over in the Luxembourg Gardens, right up the street from where I live, there's a wild bit of sculpture. A fat, bloated drunk (Pan? Silenus?) who's being helped on or, maybe off a bucking donkey by two naked men and one naked woman.

Now underneath all this (I told you there's always somebody down there getting stepped on) is a lady holding the muzzle of the donkey, to avoid being trampled to death, I guess while above her is a man, prone, and unhappy about it. What's it all meant? Well it's a three-act play.

The fat fellow is my mysterious ambivalent good-evil symbol who has entered this perfectly happy household and arouses all sorts of unsuspected desires, turning father against son, wife against husband (that's the husband, face down, getting kicked) and now that he's thoroughly scrambled their lives, he's trying to get off into the night, laughing hysterically because he is silly and senseless.

Well, it's a very modern type of play and it ought to do well off-Broadway or maybe at the Royal Court in London.

Cart Before Horse

Kennedy Firm On Cuba Deal

By HAROLD MORRISON
 Canadian Press

Soviet Premier Khrushchev is reported in high U.S. diplomatic quarters as having expressed readiness to remove Soviet jet bombers from Cuba if President Kennedy first will lift the Caribbean blockade and sign a pledge not to invade Cuba.

This Kennedy won't do. His aides say this latest Khrushchev proposal, conveyed in a note to Kennedy, places "the cart before the horse." They say the president will tell Khrushchev the bombers must be removed before the blockade is lifted.

The aides say Kennedy won't sign a no-invasion pledge until there is international on-site inspection in Cuba to verify that the missiles and bombers have been removed. Because of suspicion that some missiles may have been hidden in Cuban caves, the international inspection would have to be extensive.

There also would have to be machinery set up to make sure no more missiles and bombers are brought into the Communist Caribbean stronghold.

U.S. informants say Khrushchev has argued that the question of on-site inspection cannot be settled by Moscow—that the decision must rest with Fidel Castro. The Cuban premier would have to give his approval since Cuban sovereignty is involved.

Castro has stated there will be no international inspection on Cuban territory. However, since the visit of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan to Cuba, Castro has been reported to have adopted a less rigid position on the inspection issue.

Masked Cuban Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban-refugee doctor made a masked appearance before the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities Thursday, explaining he feared his relatives in Cuba might be harmed if his identity was known.

The mystery witness, his head completely covered by a cloth sack with only eye holes cut in it, testified that he fled Cuba seven or eight months ago, and that the Castro government seized all his property the day he left.

He said the Cuban government controlled all supplies of drugs through a national council, and that once he had seen American-made pills which had been packaged in a box bearing the label of an Iron Curtain country.

On another occasion, he said, a "female militia officer" was stationed in an operating room while he was performing surgery. He said he didn't see "how they could be afraid I might sabotage the operation, but apparently they were."

Plane Joins Search

DUNCAN — Desperate attempts to locate Duncan youth Douglas Helin, 21, missing since early Sunday, were joined yesterday by a seaplane piloted by Bill Harrison of Duncan, who combed the area between Maple Bay and Nanaimo.

Search parties organized by the young man's friends were unable to ferret out any trace. His car, a dark green 1954 model, licence B.C. 374-301, has not been seen anywhere.

CAR DESCRIBED

The automobile is equipped with chrome hub caps, white wall tires and has a deep scratch on the driver's side. Meanwhile, local RCMP interviewed the young man's mother, Mrs. Uto Helin, checking the possibility that he left with another local youth, Jerrold Mutter, who was supposed to have left for Montreal last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. George Mutter said they are not yet looking for their son. Mrs. Helin told police she did not think her son knew young Mutter.

Community Club In Esquimalt Forced to Expire

The Esquimalt Community Club, which has been helping the people of Esquimalt for the past 30 years, has passed quietly out of existence due to lack of support.

Mrs. Robert McVie, who has been president of the club for the past 27 years, said dwindling membership has helped force the club to fold.

FOUNDED IN 1932

Founded by Lady Emily Walker in 1932, the club has helped the needy in Esquimalt, organized projects for un-

Thieves Hit Three Cars

Thieves forced open cars belonging to Mrs. B. W. Giberson, Lake Cowichan, and Mrs. Gwen Cash, 3518 Richmond, in Esquimalt's parking garage yesterday afternoon and got away with $75 worth of food, liquor and clothing.

About the same time Mrs. Susan Taylor, 1630 Burton, notified police that a battery had been stolen from her car, parked in front of her house since last Saturday.

Precinct Plan Approved By City Tourist Group

Victoria's city hall precinct plan received unanimous support last night from the tourist industry group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The group, a sub-group of the chamber, approved a motion supporting the scheme "in principle."

A preamble to the motion, presented by Nick Howard of the Royal Olympic Hotel, said "It will stimulate the rehabilitation of the area and others not only for the good of our own citizens but also for our visitors."

City May Pay Cost Of '62 Yule Lights

The city may be forced to write off $3,882 owed by the Chamber of Commerce for last year's Christmas lighting on downtown streets, finance committee was told yesterday.

Ald. Austin Curtis reported to the committee that chamber officials have "no funds in sight to cover this amount."

Mayor R. B. Wilson suggested the city wipe out the debt in return for taking over ownership of ornamental lights and other properties purchased last year.

TAKE INVENTORY

City lighting engineer Kenneth Reid will be asked to take inventory before the final decision is made.

For this Christmas season, city finance committee recommended yesterday, council should increase its annual

Summer Hours Backed

An extended daylight saving time period similar to this year was recommended for 1963 last night by the tourist industry group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Members moved to have Chamber of Commerce directors approach the provincial government immediately to continue the longer daylight time period.

REPEAT EXTENSION

Daylight time would come into effect next year on April 27 and last until Oct. 26 under the recommendation. Dates this year, slightly earlier and a month later than the year previous, were April 29 and Oct. 28.

NANAIMO — Organization of the Nanaimo Central Christmas Cheer Committee was completed at the Legion Hall on Tuesday.

Mrs. Theresa Murdoch is again president and Mrs. P. Rogers, secretary-treasurer. The committee will be with-out the services of Tom Anderson this year.

The first donation of the year has already been received, a contribution of $45.10 from a group of old age pensioners.

New Look Asked On Jury Issue

Attorney-General Robert Bannister will be asked to re-examine the "whole question of jury duty exemptions" by the Retail Merchants' group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Lou Worrell said the group passed a motion yesterday to draft a letter to the attorney-general asking for the "re-examination."

Members were unanimous in the motion.

There was no question of "shirking duties," by members or employees of group merchants, but they felt the duties could be "better divided."

Several firms had been called upon and had "three or four men" away from work for "quite a while," Mr. Worrell said.

Many businesses were exempt, as were civil servants. "With so many civil servants in this area, jury duty could perhaps be better 'divided up.'"

Why the Trek to Agassiz?

'Symbol of Final Extermination'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Joe Podovinkoff, a spokesman for the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors said Thursday "Canada's idea of religious freedom allows you to believe as you wish as long as you do as you're told, but Doukhobors want complete freedom."

He told 30 Protestant ministers education, farming, family and communal life are all part of the Doukhobor religion and restrictions on any of them is a threat to liberty.

Mr. Podovinkoff, Kootenay, B.C., a University of B.C. graduate and Doukhobor, and Prof. W. G. Dixon, head of the school of social work at the university, spoke in a panel discussion on Freedom of religion at Chown Memorial United Church. The meeting was sponsored by the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

The Freedomites camped at Hope now see "Agassiz as the symbol of their final extermination," Mr. Podovinkoff said. "They lack the liberty and leadership they need."

One of the ministers asked why the sect's spiritual leader, Stephan Sorokin, was in Uruguay instead of B.C.

He is in Uruguay at the request of the sect which believes his freedom would end as well as he stepped on Canadian soil, Mr. Podovinkoff replied.

Prof. Dixon suggested an impartial commission on Doukhobor affairs be set up to bridge the gap between Freedomites and the Canadian community.

He said the provincial government should provide an annual grant of $100,000 to finance the commission's work.

Mr. Tarasoff told the meeting acts of violence should be considered on an individual basis.

"We must not try groups, but judge individuals," he said.

"Anyone who participates in an act of violence automatically ceases to be a Doukhobor."

Mississippi Leaders

Contempt Charges Ordered for Pair

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday ordered the federal government to file criminal contempt charges against Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lieut. Gov. Paul Johnson for attempting to bar Negro James Meredith from the University of Mississippi.

The court said that "documentary evidence already adduced" in previous civil contempt proceedings brought against the two state officials made clear that court action should be instituted "to determine whether they are, or either of them is, guilty of criminal contempt of the orders of this court."

Both already have been found guilty on the civil contempt charges, but the court has held off imposing punishment.

Should Barnett and Johnson be found guilty of criminal contempt they could be fined and sentenced to jail terms.

Yesterday's order came less than two weeks after the government asked the appeals court to appoint a "master," or a neutral referee, to compile evidence in the case.

At that time the government said that "conflicting factual assertions have been made to the court" in the civil contempt proceedings.

Christmas Mail Dates Set to U.K.

Christmas deadlines for surface mail in Great Britain are rapidly approaching.

Last date to mail parcels by ordinary mail to British friends or relations is Tuesday, Nov. 26. Surface letter mail to the U.K. closes Nov. 24.

It's already too late to send parcels or letters to Australia or Japan by surface mail, but there is still time left for airmail.

All airmail closing dates, anywhere in the world, fall in December.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A county court judge Thursday opened the door for out-of-town University of B.C. students to vote in the Dec. 17 Vancouver-Point Grey by-election.

Judge A. H. J. Swensky ruled in a test case that second-year nursing student Timothy Plegel, 19, who lives on the UBC campus, is a resident of the electoral district.

Plegel was appealing a rejection by the registrar of voters.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Vancouver alderman Reg. Atherton, nominated unanimously Thursday as Conservative candidate in the Point Grey provincial by-election, took a swing at Attorney-General Bopner and an unnamed labor leader over recent strike violence.

He criticized Mr. Bopner, who holds one of three seats for Point Grey, for not enforcing the law in the labor disputes and a labor spokesman who said the violence was aimed at forcing the government to rescind labor legislation known as Bill 43.

Mr. Atherton, a chartered accountant, won the unanimous nod to contest the Dec. 17 by-election when three other potential candidates stepped aside in his favor.

June Deadline

Nations Push Ottawa
On Import Charges

OTTAWA (CP) — The member nations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade expect Canada to announce by next June the date for removal of any remaining import surcharges. Informants said Thursday.

They said this is implicit in a GATT statement Thursday asking Canada to report "in the early part of 1963" on action taken to eliminate "expediently" the remaining surcharges.

STATEMENT TABLED

The GATT statement was tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Nowlan after Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced that a GATT ministerial meeting will be held in early 1963 on liberalization of trade. The ministerial meeting stems from a proposal by Mr. Diefenbaker at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference for a trade meeting of "like-minded nations" and a joint proposal by Canada and the U.S. to this effect to the current GATT meeting.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the remaining import surcharges should be removed by the time of the ministerial meeting in Geneva so that Canada can stand "with clean hands."

BUDGET BRAILING

It is understood that during that GATT review of Canadian surcharges imposed last June as part of the austerity program the United States wanted a deadline set for removal of the extra levies.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A middle-aged woman was struck and killed by a car Thursday night in Surrey. The woman, whose name was not released, was pronounced dead at the scene.

'Expect Blast Any Minute!'

NEW YORK (CP) — "Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help!"

Crackling distress messages came through the night from the Greek freighter Captain George as the crew battled flames within range of a cargo of explosives.

10:30 p.m. EST: Freight-er: SOS... SOS... SOS... Position 37 degrees 15 minutes north, 80 degrees 45 minutes west. Require immediate assistance... explosion... require immediate assistance.

10:45 p.m.: Smoke in radio shack. Can't stand it much longer.

11:31 p.m.: Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help.

11:48 p.m.: Putting cargo over side. Condition worsening.

12:07 a.m.: Explosives jettisoned from aft. Looks more promising now. Only explosives forward of bridge.

5:30 a.m.: No. 4 hatch on fire. Defying all attempts to extinguish sulphur blaze. Fear that fire may spread to the No. 5 hatch, where oil stored, or explosives forward. Course for Bermuda. Tanker Virginia standing by. Crew morale high.

9:27 a.m.: They are preparing to abandon the St. Captain George.

10:15 a.m.: St. Captain George lowering lifeboats now—operator unable to get back into radio shack due to fire—apparent visual communications via ships in immediate area—abandoning ship.

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Crew members abandoned a burning Greek freighter in the storm-tossed Atlantic Thursday night as flames swept near her cargo of high explosives. Rescue ships picked up seven men but said one lifeboat capsized, and they had lost sight of the other crew members in the water.

All 18 were reported to have been wearing life jackets. Other rescue craft were bearing down on the scene, 300 miles northeast of Bermuda, to join in the search. The temperature of the water was 74 degrees.

FIVE PICKED UP

Messages to the coast guard from the scene indicated the freighter Trinity Navigator had picked up five crew members of the abandoned ship, the Captain George. The tanker Virginia rescued two from the capsized boat. One of the rescued men was said to have possible rib fractures.

SHIP ROCKED

The Captain George, carrying more than 100 tons of explosives, was rocked by an explosion Wednesday night. From that time until the ship was abandoned, Capt. George Karmetzis and his crew of 24 fought fires in a gale that tossed the ship about with 30- to 60-foot waves.

The crew heaved part of the dynamite cargo overboard before taking to the lifeboats.

WAS DAMAGED

At one point the Virginia tried to go alongside the Captain George and reported she was damaged. There was no detail of whether she had collided with the distressed ship.

The Trinity Navigator said the first lifeboat was launched at 4:35 p.m., and she picked up the five crew members about a half-hour later.

SECOND BOAT

At 6:05 p.m., the second boat was launched and at 7 p.m. the Trinity Navigator said the boat had capsized after both rescue ships tried to make passes in heavy seas to pick it up.

The Trinity Navigator, convinced that a lifeboat launching was impossible because of the seas, had radioed Hamilton suggesting helicopters be sent at once. The U.S. Coast Guard replied that the vessel was too far away.

SITUATION TENSE

The tension and anxiety of the watchers aboard the rescue ships was reflected by this message picked up from one of the vessels by the coast guard.

"Five must be getting close to dynamite on board. Have heard one of scuttling ships advising all ships to move away from Captain George."

NOT AGAIN

The RCA Communications Centre in New York said it had picked up a message from the Virginia reporting she had tried to go alongside the distressed vessel but suffered

We'll Shoot Planes
Castro Tells U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba was reliably reported Thursday night to have warned the United States through Acting Secretary-General U Thant that Cuba would shoot down any U.S. planes flying reconnaissance missions over Cuban territory.

The warning was contained in a letter from Castro handed by a Cuban representative to U Thant, who promptly informed U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson of its contents.

Without waiting for dinner

Stevenson hurried to the Soviet mission to the United Nations for a conference with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union. Stevenson went at the request of Kuznetsov.

After a marathon session of three hours and 30 minutes Stevenson emerged and told reporters that the letter from Castro had been discussed. He said he might have more to add on the subject today.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga handed U Thant the letter from Castro giving his position on the Cuban crisis.

A UN spokesman said Cuba had asked that the contents not be published until this morning.

Thant had a joint meeting with Lechuga and Kuznetsov Thursday afternoon. Lechuga saw Thant separately in the morning, and stayed on in the afternoon for a time after Kuznetsov departed.

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly's economic committee voted 73 to 18 with 23 abstentions Thursday to have an international trade and development conference held not later than next September.

Keep Eye on Nikita
Adenauer Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer has warned President Kennedy the enforced withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba probably has made Premier Khrushchev more dangerous and unpredictable. It was learned Thursday.

Adenauer's warning was made known as the chancellor prepared to return to Bonn to deal with what is possibly the worst political crisis he has faced since he took office 13 years ago.

He has set up a series of conferences for Saturday morning, a few hours after his return to Bonn, in an attempt to save his coalition, threatened by a dispute about the arrest of several editors of a weekly magazine for alleged treason.

INTENSE TALKS

Adenauer wound up two days of intense talks with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the issuance of a communique which as usual reported full agreement.

But Adenauer, it was learned, did take issue with Kennedy's estimate of the effect on Khrushchev of the Cuban crisis.

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards walled a guide from West Berlin and stopped an escape attempt by several East Germans through a 70-yard tunnel under the wall dividing Berlin, sources said Thursday night. Escapes elsewhere along the wall were successful.

Informants said East German heard shots from the direction of the house.

U.S. Man Deported

'Give Him Our Love'

By JACK FRY

A deportation order was waiting at Patricia Bay Airport last night for Gilbert John Hostar, who earlier in the day received a deferred sentence in Tacoma for burning down his home near Eatonville, Wash., on July 27.

Mr. Hostar, who hoped to rejoin his wife and five children at their home at 1404 Taunton Road, Victoria, arrived at the airport about 4:30 p.m. with Victoria private investigator Conrad Watling, on a Trans-Canada Air Lines flight from Seattle.

He was served the deportation order by immigration officer Harry Tobin, and released in custody of the airlines to be taken back to Seattle on the 9:30 p.m. flight.

He said he would probably try to find work on some farm at Blaine, near the B.C. border, while he appeals the order.

With tears in his eyes, he said he would not telephone

his wife because he said his goodbyes to the family Wednesday when he left here to face trial.

OFFICIAL PAID

A TCA official paid for Mr. Hostar's supper in the airport restaurant. "I'll pick up the tab for this gentleman, but not the others," he told a waitress.

"What have you got that they haven't got?" asked the woman with a pleasant smile.

Mr. Hostar said nothing. He had a wife and five children who face bleak uncertainty because of the deportation order in his pocket.

A friend telephoned the news to Mrs. Hostar. "Tell him we still love him," replied the wife. Neighbors had brought candy to the children and tried to console her, after learning of the family's plight in the Colonist, she added.

The deportation order, signed by Mr. Tobin, stated that, on the basis of evidence from a "further examination" held at the airport, Mr. Hostar could not stay here because he was not a Canadian citizen, did not have Canadian domicile and was a member of the prohibited class of persons in that he was in a "paranoid state."

NO QUESTIONS

Mr. Hostar said the immigration officer at the airport did not ask him any questions about his mental condition.

"He said I didn't pass the medical. I asked him 'Why not?' He hummed and hawed, then brought out this thing (the deportation order). It was all typed up. All he did was put a date on it and my name," said Mr. Hostar.

APPLIED EARLIER

He also said while applying earlier to immigration officials here for a "landed immigrant" status, he followed a suggestion of chief immigration officer John McKinstry and paid Dr. D. E. Alcorn $20 for a psychiatric examination.

Mr. Hostar said he was unable to get a copy of the report from Dr. Alcorn and he thought it must have been turned over to immigration officials.

HOLDING BACK

Dr. Alcorn last night said he did submit a report to immigration officials, at their insistence, but he did not mention the word paranoid and in fact "said something which was a bunch of mumble-jumble. I was holding back because the matter was before a United States court."

Dr. Alcorn said Mr. Hostar came to him and asked for a report to be sent to immigration.

He said he was unable to reach Mr. Hostar to give him the report and he did not want to risk sending it through the mails.

If immigration officials used the term paranoid, "they apparently arrived at that conclusion on their own. I did not make that statement," said Dr. Alcorn.

"I even told them they should have their own examinations instead of expecting someone to produce one when asked," he said.

Immigration officials may have obtained their information from a source in the U.S., suggested Dr. Alcorn.

ONLY REFERENCE

He said the only reference to Mr. Hostar's state of mind in the report he gave immigration was a statement that if no evidence was turned up in the American court trial that Mr. Hostar was being persecuted, "I'm afraid it must be disillusionment."

In Tacoma yesterday, Mr. Hostar was given a four-year deferred sentence by Superior Judge Frank Hale and ordered to take psychiatric treatment.

BIZARRE CASE

Judge Hale told Hostar it was one of the most bizarre cases ever to come to his attention. "We have road disputes every day in court, but you're the first man ever to burn his house down."

"I am satisfied you need medical help," Judge Hale said.

Parksville
Sewer
Bylaw
Wins

PARKSVILLE — A $235,000 money bylaw to provide a sewer system for the village was passed by a vote of property owners yesterday with just over the required 60 per cent majority.

A total 277 votes were polled in favor of the bylaw and 169 registered against.

TOTAL VOTE

Three ballots were spoiled, bringing the total number of votes cast to 449.

Some 766 property owners are registered on village rolls, but only about 600 actually live in the area.

This brings to a successful conclusion the first phase of a project that was launched by village council many months ago.

TENDERS SOON

It is expected tenders will be called within 30 days. It is hoped that winter works grants can be obtained for the preliminary work.

Village commission chairman John Robertson expressed pleasure at the outcome of the vote but added that he would have been even happier had the majority been somewhat larger.

Approved by Board

Teachers Gain
4.07 Per Cent
Salary Increase

Greater Victoria's school teachers will take home an average 4.07 per cent larger pay cheque in 1963.

The "cost-of-living type" wage award was approved unanimously last night by the school board. Teachers had earlier accepted the terms, reached after a four-hour negotiation Tuesday.

MATCHES INCREASE

It matches the 4.1 per cent increase recently granted to teachers employed by 12 other Island school boards.

Cost of the increase, which goes as high as 6.65 per cent for some categories, is an overall $221,930.

City Board:

Higher
Pay
'Right'

Some Greater Victoria school teachers may have higher salaries than most of their brethren elsewhere on the Island—but they're only making up for lost time.

John Williams of Sooke school board said Wednesday that the 1963 Greater Victoria salary increase was "fantastically high in at least two categories."

INCREASES REACHED

But Victoria school board officials pointed out last night the increases were reached after 13 and 14 years' service.

Maximum pay was reached in the same categories in Sooke after 11 years.

While the Victoria maximum was higher, Victoria board officials said, Sooke teachers were as much as "$300 to $400 ahead" on yearly salaries at earlier points in the scale of annual automatic raises, or increments.

YEARLY PAY

In the case of the 14-year increment pattern, Victoria teachers' yearly pay only equalled the Sooke scale at the 12-year level, the officials said.

Gas Stations
Going Wide Open

Gas station operators in Victoria yesterday voted in favor of unrestricted hours of opening.

The vote was 45 to 27 in favor of 24-hour opening for those operators who wished it. A total of 75 out of 83 operators who qualified for yesterday's vote actually cast ballots at city hall.

City council, which meets this afternoon, will now implement the bylaw which it drew up before asking operators for their views. If the measure had been defeated, the city would probably have instituted a permit system under which only 10 local gas stations could remain open 24 hours.

Teachers originally asked for a 12 per cent pay boost.

Negotiating chairman David Logan told board members "the bare minimum that we could offer was 3 1/2 per cent. I was satisfied to land at 4 per cent."

"We didn't want arbitration... it's much better for the teacher-trustee relationship to reach a negotiated settlement," he added.

'NOT ENTIRELY FAIR'

But he said he did not think the pay raise was "entirely fair" in the way it was distributed over various scales and categories.

"To my way of thinking it is somewhat unfair to elementary teachers," Mr. Logan said.

NEARLY IDENTICAL

Island and metropolitan scales for the elementary teachers are nearly identical.

Increases for principals and vice-principals were deferred and three-man committees have been set up by both board and teachers to study the problem. Both groups may increase committee membership.

The new salary scales become effective January 1, 1963.

More
In City

A slight increase in the number of voters eligible for the Dec. 13 election in Victoria was predicted yesterday by city hall officials. Last year the voters list contained 20,375 names.

Typing of the new voters list was completed yesterday, and final adjustments to the total will be made at a court of revision to be held in the council chamber at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

MAYOR CHAIRMAN

Mayor R. B. Wilson will be chairman of the court whose members are Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. A. W. Toome.

The sitting of the court is a formality at which city clerk Frank Hunter presents a list of names of new property owners to be added to the voters list, along with those to be struck off because of death or change of address.

Resident and tenant electors whose names were not listed had a two-month period up to Oct. 31 to place their names on the roll of voters. The revised, up-to-date voters list will be available in the city clerk's office Nov. 28, price 30 cents.

Nominations for four aldermanic seats and one seat on Greater Victoria school board close at 2 p.m. Dec. 6.

Seeking
New Term

Trustee George Curran announced yesterday he will seek re-election Dec. 6 as a Saanich member of Greater Victoria school board.

Mr. Curran advocates intensive planning in the months ahead to meet future accommodation needs in School District 61, which has registered unexpectedly large growth in enrolments in many areas.

START WORK EARLY

"We have to start work early next year on the planning of a new building bylaw for presentation to ratepayers later in 1963," he said. "Our projected enrolments in the last year or two have been very conservative, resulting in an urgent need to speed-up the current school building program."

Mr. Curran, an accountant employed by Victoria Press Ltd., was first elected as a trustee representing Saanich on the Greater Victoria school board in December, 1960. He filed nomination papers for the coming elections yesterday.

Thalidomide Babies

Special Fund Eyed
For Drug Victims

Steps will be taken today to set up a special fund for assistance to Vancouver Island families with thalidomide babies, Victoria lawyer Rodney Beavan said yesterday.

START SOCIETY

Mr. Beavan, a friend of a Cordova Bay couple who Monday became parents of a boy who was born without arms after the mother took thalidomide pills early in pregnancy, said he will open a special bank account at the Town and Country—branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank.

Later in the day, he will start arrangements for incorporation of a society under the Societies Act to administer the fund in assistance of parents with thalidomide children.

"Many of us would like to help, and owing to the particular nature of the problem special help will be needed for a long time," said Mr. Beavan.

CHANCE FOR PUBLIC

This fund will give the general public a chance to show their feelings for their fellow human beings, especially since there is no indication the government will take any action.

Meanwhile, Health Minister Eric Martin said a move to any federal-provincial assistance scheme is up to the federal government.

NINE B.C. CASES

There have been nine cases of thalidomide victims in B.C., two of them on Vancouver Island. Most recent B.C. victim of the drug was a baby boy without arms born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bamber, 5165 Cordova Bay Road.

Plane Joins Search
For Duncan Youth

DUNCAN — Desperate attempts to locate Duncan youth Douglas Helin, 21, missing since early Sunday, were joined yesterday by a seaplane piloted by Bill Harrison of Duncan, who combed the area between Maple Bay and Nanaimo.

Search parties organized by the young man's friends were unable to ferret out any trace. His car, a dark green 1954 model, licence B.C. 374-201, has not been seen anywhere.

CAR DESCRIBED

The automobile is equipped with chrome hub caps, whitewall tires and has a deep scratch on the driver's side. Meanwhile, local RCMP interviewed the young man's mother, Mrs. Unto Helin, checking the possibility that he left with another local youth, Jevrold Mutter, who was supposed to have left for Montreal last weekend. Mr. Mutter.

'Something to Sell'

Cowichan Valley Seeks Tourists

DUNCAN—Formation of a tourist promotion organization here under the name of Cowichan Valley Tourist Association was proposed by 15 representatives of the hotel, motel and resort business at a meeting chaired by D. Mason Hurley.

Mr. Hurley is chairman of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce's tourism committee.

He expressed disappointment that only a small number of the 50 invited operators came to the meeting. Those attending felt, before going ahead with the new association, the opinion of a larger number of interested parties should be heard. Another meeting is called for Nov. 29.

NEEDS FULL SUPPORT

Mr. Hurley said the proposed organization should consist not only of proprietors of hotels, motels and resorts but all business people.

"Any reluctant businessman should realize that, although he might not have the direct benefit of the tourist dollar, he will most certainly enjoy the increase eventually," he said.

The tourist industry is the second largest in the province, he added, and quoting figures compiled by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, he said a total of 1,400,000 visitors to Vancouver Island during the past tourist season spent a total of $87,500,000.

Most of the attending operators agreed with Mr. Hurley that the Cowichan Valley is missing out on the bonanza and the new association will press for sharply increased tourist promotion.

"We all know we have something to sell to visitors; the unexcelled countryside, good fishing, comfortable tourist accommodations, the fascinating crafts of the local Indians and the interesting lumber industry."

He pointed out that a large membership is necessary to make the tourist promotion idea effective.

BRINGS RESULTS

Mr. Hurley quoted the example of Campbell River with its excellent tourist promotion resulting in a very good 1962 tourist season.

"We must raise enough enthusiasm from our own ranks to bring more tourists here and to keep them in the district for a reasonable length of time."

Hunters Bewitched
By Passing BeautyBy Ted
Shackleford

TALLY HO!: At the start of the hunting season, Jim Swanson and Al Lewis were with Rich Howe when he shot his 211-pound buck in the Cayuse area, back of Cowichan Lake. Last week Jim and Al together with Brian Orr took off for the Big Creek area of the Cariboo with plans to shoot a big moose to even Rich's score. And they saw one, a beauty with a tremendous rack of horns. At the time it happened to be standing between the three men—who were having a cup of coffee—and their Land Rover which held their rifles.

CHARMING DUNGEON?: City Hall plans to brighten up the city with paint similar to Norwich in England drew an irate call from a reader: "It's time our city fathers tried to stop patterning our lovely city after these awful places. If you could see the place...

I was in Norwich for several weeks recently. It is like a dungeon... It's all right, I suppose, if you like purple doors."

DON'T DO AS I DO: It's interesting to note that Coun. Joe Casey, Saanich council's architect of amalgamation with the city, doesn't mind living in the city, at 932 Queens.

WRONG RIDING: Esquimalt Women's Institute seems a little confused over just who represents the municipality in federal parliament. At a meeting of Esquimalt council recently a copy of a resolution was received from the EWI, addressed to George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich riding. The resolution called for better postal facilities and claimed it was impossible to post parcels without going all the way to the main post office. Reeve A. C. Wartle pointed out the municipality is in the federal riding of Victoria with A. DeB. McPhillis as its member, and city clerk J. W. Allan said he had checked postal facilities and found two sub post offices which handle parcels. Council took no action.

BILL SAVES BILLS: For many years Bill Clark was manager of the Dominion Hotel. When it changed hands recently, Bill left the hotel but in what must rank as the smartest money-saving move ever—the new owners have appointed another Bill Clark as manager. This means they won't have to alter letterheads or even the name on the manager's door.

Courtenay Fund Drive Tops 90 Per Cent of Goal

COURTENAY—United Appeal has realized over 91 per cent of its $26,000 quota, with $23,681 pledged or donated.

Some sections of the community and district, including the logging industry, Denman Island, Black Creek and Head-quarters Road have exceeded their quotas but other areas are short.

Courtenay residents' area is $690 short of its assessment; the business section—$430; Comox business and residential—$665, and Cumberland 897, with lesser amounts required from other districts.

NANAIMO—Thieves who smashed through a rear window of Nanaimo Fish and Game Club House here made off with 5,000 rounds of small-calibre rifle ammunition and $18 in cash.

A telescope, worth about $45, was also taken.

Charetakers of the building, who live less than 100 yards away, heard no commotion. Police believe juveniles were responsible.

Around the Island

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Kinmen will make a cash donation of $25 to the Salvation Army Christmas Cheer Fund, and members will also contribute their work in packing and distributing hampers, and in making street corner kettles.

The club also voted a donation to the Citizens' Safety Committee of $20, to be used to help pay for an educational film which the committee wishes to show.

DUNCAN—A resident for the past 32 years, Arthur Gibbons, died at King's Daughters Hospital Nov. 15.

He had been an employee of Hillcrest Lumber Company. A veteran of the First World War, he served overseas with the 103rd Battalion.

He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Cowichan branch. Funeral services will be held from the Hirst

Funeral Chapel tomorrow at 11:30 a.m.

NANAIMO—A meeting is slated between the Vancouver Island Exhibition Association Board and the Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Commission.

A decision as to the advisability of continuing the exhibition will probably be reached.

NANAIMO—The Hub City Kiwanis will support the Canadian Mental Health Association's Christmas gift campaign again this year.

"Captain of the Week" guest was Capt. H. Tahaden of the My. Dittmar Koel.

The meeting approved a suggestion made to the club by visitors from North Vancouver to hold an "interclub night" Nov. 28 with the visitors bringing the program.

DUNCAN—A World War veteran Harry Hinton Mills died at the Veterans' Hospital, Victoria, Nov. 13. He was 38.

He had been a resident of Duncan and district since 1923. During the Second World War he served overseas with the Canadian Scottish and later with the forestry corps. He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Cowichan branch.

He belonged to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. Funeral services will be held from Hirst Funeral Chapel tomorrow at 3 p.m. Interment will follow in the veterans' section of Mount View Cemetery.

NANAIMO—Sharon Stephenson, 698 Second, has received a diploma in singing from the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto.

TOFINO—Two Tofino Elementary School pupils have received prizes from the Canadian Legion here for their drawings of poppies.

Prizes went to Karen Guppy, 10, and Debbie Winger, 7.

NORTH COWICHAN—October building permits of $48,100 showed a decrease from October, 1961, when the total was $162,728, according to the monthly statement by the municipality of North Cowichan. Ten-month total for this year is $1,263,507. In 1961 it was $1,035,548.

Veteran Gets Medal

Counts at Government House in Victoria Wednesday were Frank Harrison, William Johnson, Earle Jones, Robert Rutter, Terence Power, Fred (Ted) Gardener, and Arthur Enger of the Port Alberni Branch 55 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Lieutenant-Governor Penner presented Mr. Harrison with the LCM and Bar for bravery in the First World War. These decorations had not been officially presented before.

Mr. Harrison, now 72, joined the Canadian Army in Port Alberni at the outbreak of war in 1914. He was among the original members of the city's volunteer fire department, formed in 1912, and on his retirement was made an honorary member.

Besides his Legion fellow members, Mr. Harrison was accompanied by his son, daughter-in-law and two granddaughters.

NANAIMO—Organization of the Nanaimo Central Christmas Cheer Committee was completed at the Legion Hall on Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas Murdoch is again president and Mrs. P. Rogers, secretary-treasurer. The committee will be with the services of Tom Anderson this year.

The first donation of the year has already been received, a contribution of $45.10 from a group of old age pensioners.

Three Projects

Cowichan Area Set For Works Program

DUNCAN—Spokesmen for the municipality of North Cowichan and the city of Duncan outlined their winter works projects at a meeting of the Cowichan Winter Employment committee. Reeve Donald Morton said the municipality will carry out $80,000 worth of work. He said three projects are planned with half of the money spent on roads and the other half on utilities and parks. He added the parks project is the smallest.

Chief administrative officer of the City of Duncan Gordon Berry told the committee the city has projects lined up amounting to $1.5 million and employing eight to 12 men.

The projects include clearing in the Centennial Heights and waterworks extension. He said more projects might be added later. The $150,000 school building program in Cowichan will employ up to 35 men and a spokesman for the school board, Will Dobson, pointed out this is the first time that this type of work will be carried out in the "off-season."

Last year, the municipality of North Cowichan employed nine men and the city six men during the winter works program. Underlining his report on the present local employment situation, Duncan National Employment Service manager R. E. Robinson presented comparative figures from 1961 and this year.

He said in October last year 370 men and 140 women were registered at the local office and this October the figures were 289 men and 159 women.

He said the peak of unemployment comes in the first months of the year.

Following a lengthy discussion on young people with incomplete schooling, a sub-committee was formed to seek ways to motivate them in learning a trade. The sub-committee consists of union president Percy Clements and Mr. Robinson and Harold Whitefield of the Duncan UIC.

Mr. Clements felt more industrialists should attend the meetings of the Cowichan Winter Employment Committee and he also suggested local employers should make a point of hiring local help whenever possible.

In promoting the winter works program, the local committee agreed to repeat regular lectures on the program sponsored by the local Dale Carnegie Association and to have another window display by local business houses.

Prime Jersey Herd Put Up for Sale

QUALICUM BEACH—One of the Island's largest dairy herds—a total of 60 purebred Jerseys—has been put up for sale by the Eaglecrest farm near here.

E. L. Boulton, whose Vancouver firm took over the farm some 14 years ago, said they intended to get out of the dairy business entirely. Only farming operation to remain on the 250-acre spread will be management of a herd of 45-purebred Herefords.

Mr. Boulton has denied rumors that Eaglecrest, now operated as a private resort, had been sold to American interests.

He admitted, however, that the famous estate was for sale.

The property, with its three-quarters of a mile of sandy beach, is considered to be the largest piece of choice real estate in the area.

"If we wanted to subdivide it and sell it off piecemeal, we could easily get rid of it," Mr. Boulton said, "but we're not interested in that kind of a deal."

Tip for Pirates

Want a Good Cannon? First, Steal the Brass

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—To the uninitiated, the Ken Kendall family may seem to fall far on the other side of eccentric.

To the initiated, a visit is an experience that can't be forgotten.

Ken Kendall, 58, and his wife Mary live near an innocent-looking harbor about 10 miles south of here. Beware the innocent-looking harbor.

At the approach of a visitor's boat, in all probability a cannon shot will whistle past the bow. And depending on Mr. Kendall's evaluation, it may mean a friendly welcome or a warning to the enemy—the Stuffed Shirt.

Mr. Kendall, with earrings flashing from lobes he pierced himself, is among many other things, a maker of cannon for yachtsmen, an amateur pirate, a collector of weapons and the owner of 50 previous acres liberally sprinkled with threatening notices proclaiming that trespassers will be shot, or worse.

STEAL THE BRASS
Mr. Kendall, a product of the University of Toronto, has made more than 100 cannon for U.S. yachtsmen and his friends in his backyard foundry.

To anyone who wants a cannon made, he urges them to bring their own brass ("about 16 pounds will do") and to steal the brass if at all possible ("the cannon fires better").

LONG RANGE
The iron cannon he trains on Stuffed Shirts ("there's no excuse for being pompous") is capable of firing a one-pound lead shot two miles with some accuracy.

The noise is deafening and mainly confined to signalling national holidays, but Mr. Kendall is always on the alert for Stuffed Shirts.

More than 3,000 persons have visited his log cabin home in the 15 years he and Mary have lived here.

"I pity all the rich men I know," he says. "I have everything a man could wish for... On $200 a month we are rich." Medicines come from the Kendall estate through herbs. Fuel comes from the beach. The car is used mainly to meet the school bus.

OWL FOR DINNER
His wife, a native of England, says she discovered here that British Columbians have some of the rarest foods right in their own front yard. Some of the ingredients may not inspire everyone—rattlesnake, octopus, wolf-sal, beaver, racoon, great horned owl, crow, squid, an occasional ferret and just plain grass.

For New Year's Eve supper last year, Mrs. Kendall began cooking early in October. She presented to her 42 guests on Dec. 31 a total of 92 dishes, few of them ever seen on a menu before.

Recently, the Kendalls borrowed enough money from the bank to purchase half a cow. From this came, among other cuts, almost 200 pounds of hamburger.

HAMBURGER UNLIMITED
Mary promptly began writing a book to be entitled "Two Hundred and Fifty Ways to Cook Hamburger."

Despite the masquerade of pirate and the mock belligerence, Ken Kendall is a perfectionist at anything he attempts. Only a few years ago, three of his guests proved to be Mounties who took possession of a neat little still and all it contained.

During the subsequent court proceedings, the prosecutor described the whisky as the strongest and best he had ever tasted.

Dogs Pass Trials

NANAIMO—In a number of events staged by the Nanaimo Kennel Club, four dogs taking part in a beginners' course in dog obedience succeeded in qualifying.

Mrs. Ray Robertson's border collie, "Heather" won the Cranberry trophy for the highest score. The other qualifying dogs were a German shepherd belonging to A. W. Scott, D.

Jamieson's cocker spaniel, and a border collie owned by E. Delling.

On Sunday, Nov. 18, trials will be held at Chemainus on the community hall, starting at 2 p.m. All the kennel clubs of Vancouver Island will compete. Dr. Eric Johnson of Cobble Hill will share the judging responsibilities with Howard Tyrell of Nanaimo.

SIDNEY MISHAPS KILL MAN, CHILD

Violent death struck twice yesterday on highways in the Sidney area.

Students At UBC Can Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — A county court judge Thursday opened the door for students to vote in the Dec. 17 Vancouver-Point Grey by-election.

Judge A. M. J. Swerchuk ruled in a test case that second-year sociology student Timothy Flegel, 19, who lives on the UBC campus, is a resident of the electoral district.

Flegel was appealing a rejection by the registrar of voters.

Atherton Named By Tories

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Vancouver alderman Reg Atherton, nominated unanimously Thursday as Conservative candidate in the Point Grey provincial by-election, took a swing at Attorney-General Bonner and an unnamed labor leader over recent strike violence.

He criticized Mr. Bonner, who holds one of three seats for Point Grey, for not enforcing the law in the labor disputes and a labor spokesman who said the violence was aimed at forcing the government to rescind labor legislation known as Bill 43.

Mr. Atherton, a chartered accountant, won the unanimous nod to contest the Dec. 17 by-election when three other potential candidates stepped aside in his favor.

Dead as the result of two separate accidents are Lester Albert Stilling, about 43, of 5528 Henderson, Victoria, and Robert Patrick Ingram, 2½, of 9872 Fifth, in Sidney.

OUT OF CONTROL

The Victoria man died when the car in which he was riding shot out of control on the Patricia Bay Highway near Beacon Avenue and rolled at a curve.

Two other men were hurled from the car and injured.

TWO OTHERS

They are Peary Juhl, about 34, of 2804 Irma, and Bent Irmischer of Vancouver.

Mr. Juhl, transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital from Rest Haven last night, is in satisfactory condition with head injuries, multiple lacerations and abrasions. He is believed the owner-manager of Plummer Bay Sawmills.

EMERGENCY SURGERY

Mr. Irmischer underwent emergency surgery at Rest Haven for undisclosed injuries. His condition is fair.

In the earlier accident, young Robert Ingram was struck down as he darted from behind a parked car near his home. The car was driven by William H. Curtis of Seattle.

INQUEST OPENED

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ingram. An inquest into the child's death was opened briefly last night, then adjourned to Nov. 22 at 8 p.m.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow from St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, Third Avenue, in Sidney.

TWISTED METAL

The car in which Mr. Stilling met death was reduced to a twisted shambles of metal and shattered glass by the crash. He and his two companions were hurled from the car by the impact and emergency vehicles later gathered bits of debris from a stretch of road almost 500 feet long.

TWO AMBULANCES

Two ambulances responded at 7:03 p.m. Sidney Volunteer Fire Department's vehicle took the dead man to hospital, then returned for another of the injured.

Meanwhile, Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Department had sped to the wreck scene and taken the third man to hospital.

Ferry traffic was streaming along the highway at the time of the crash. Police, who were

June Deadline

Nations Push Ottawa On Import Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—The member nations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade expect Canada to announce by next June the date for removal of any remaining import surcharges, informants said Thursday.

They said this is implicit in a GATT statement Thursday asking Canada to report "in the early part of 1963" on action taken to eliminate "expeditiously" the remaining surcharges.

STATEMENT TABLED

The GATT statement was tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Nowlan after Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced that a GATT ministerial meeting will be held in early 1963 on liberalization of trade.

The ministerial meeting stems from a proposal by Mr. Diefenbaker at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference for a trade meeting of "like-minded nations" and a joint proposal by Canada and the U.S. to this effect at the current GATT meeting.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the remaining import surcharges should be removed by the time of the ministerial meeting in Geneva as that Canada can afford "with clear hands."

BOUGHT DEADLINE

It is understood that during that GATT review of Canadian surcharges imposed last June the United States wanted a deadline set for removal of the extra levies.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A middle-aged woman was struck and killed by a car Thursday night in Surrey. The woman, whose name was not released, was pronounced dead at the scene.

'Expect Blast Any Minute!'

NEW YORK (CP) — "Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help!"

Crackling distress messages came through the night from the Greek freighter Captain George as the crew battled flames within range of a cargo of explosives.

11:00 p.m.: Fire taking hold abaft midships. Cargo of sulphur impossible to extinguish. Need assistance desperately.

11:31 p.m.: Expect explosion to go up any minute. Help.

Crew Abandons Powderkeg Ship

18 Lost
In Sea,
7 Safe

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Crew members abandoned a burning Greek freighter in the storm-tossed Atlantic Thursday night as flames swept near her cargo of high explosives. Rescue ships picked up seven men but said one lifeboat capsized, and they had lost sight of the other crew members in the water.

All 18 were reported to have been wearing life jackets. Other rescue craft were bearing down on the scene, 300 miles northeast of Bermuda, to join in the search. The temperature of the water was 74 degrees.

FIVE PICKED UP

Messages to the coast guard from the scene indicated the freighter Trinity Navigator had picked up five crew members of the abandoned ship, the Captain George. The tanker Virginia rescued two from the capsized boat. One of the rescued men was said to have possible rib fractures.

SHIP ROCKED

The Captain George, carrying more than 100 tons of explosives, was rocked by an explosion Wednesday night. From that time until the ship was abandoned, Capt. George Karamezis and his crew of 24 fought fires in a gale that tossed the ship about with 30- to 60-foot waves.

The crew heaved part of the explosive cargo overboard before taking to the lifeboats.

WAS DAMAGED

At one point the Virginia tried to go alongside the Captain George and reported she was damaged. There was no detail of whether she had collided with the distressed ship.

SECOND BOAT

At 6:05 p.m. the second boat was launched and at 7 p.m. the Trinity Navigator said the boat had capsized after both rescue ships tried to make passes in heavy seas to pick it up.

The Trinity Navigator, convinced that a lifeboat launching was impossible because of the seas, had radioed Hamilton suggesting helicopters be sent at once. The U.S. Coast Guard replied that the vessel was too far away.

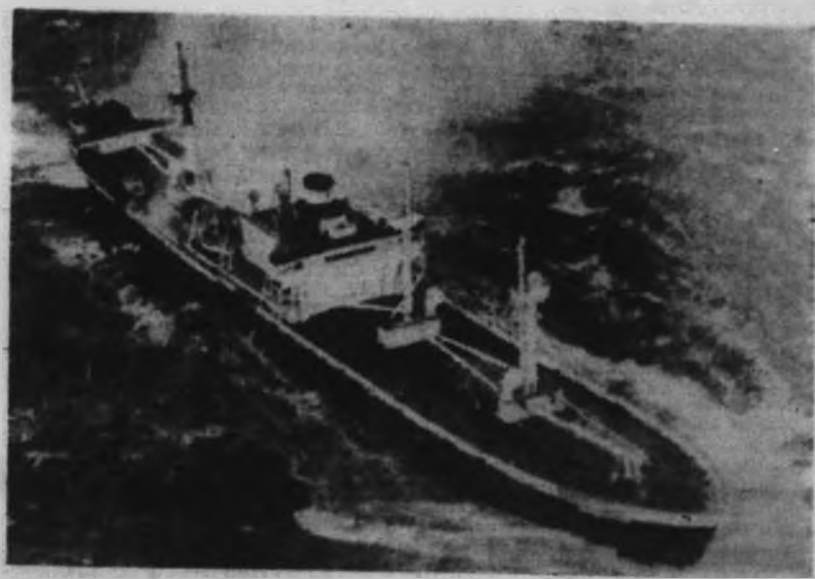

SITUATION TENSE

The tension and anxiety of the watchers aboard the rescue ships was reflected by this message picked up from one of the vessels by the coast guard: "Fire must be getting close to dynamite on board. Have heard one of resorting ships advising all ships to move away from Captain George."

NOT AGAIN

The RCA Communications Centre in New York said it had picked up a message from the Virginia reporting she had tried to go alongside the stricken vessel but suffered

We'll Shoot Planes Castro Tells U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba was reliably reported Thursday night to have warned the United States through Acting Secretary-General U Thant that Cuba would shoot down any U.S. planes flying reconnaissance missions over Cuban territory.

The warning was contained in a letter from Castro handed by a Cuban representative to Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union. Stevenson went at the request of Kuznetsov.

Without waiting for dinner

Stevenson hurried to the Soviet mission to the United Nations for a conference with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union. Stevenson went at the request of Kuznetsov.

After a marathon session of three hours and 20 minutes Stevenson emerged and told reporters that the letter from Castro had been discussed. He said he might have more to add on the subject today.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga handed Thant the letter from Castro giving his position on the Cuban crisis.

A UN spokesman said Cuba had asked that the contents not be published until this morning.

Thant had a joint meeting with Lechuga and Kuznetsov Thursday afternoon. Lechuga saw Thant separately in the morning, and stayed on in the afternoon for a time after Kuznetsov departed.

INTENSE TALKS

Adenauer wound up two days of intense talks with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the issuance of a communique which—as usual reported full agreement.

But Adenauer, it was learned, did take issue with Kennedy's estimate of the effect on Khrushchev of the Cuban crisis.

Keep Eye on Nikita Adenauer Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer has warned President Kennedy the enforced withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba probably has made Premier Khrushchev more dangerous and unpredictable. It was learned Thursday.

Adenauer's warning was made known as the chancellor prepared to return to Bonn to deal with what is possibly the worst political crisis he has faced since he took office 13 years ago.

He has set up a series of conferences for Saturday

UN Parley Set

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly's economic committee voted 73 to 19 with 23 abstentions Thursday to have an international trade and development conference held not later than next September.

Guards Stifle Berlin Escape

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards waylaid a guide from West Berlin and snipped an escape attempt by several East Germans through a 70-yard tunnel under the wall dividing Berlin, sources said Thursday night. Escapes elsewhere along the wall were successful.

Informants said East German Vopos apparently were waiting

Wednesday night at the tunnel, dug from the West to the garden of a house just beyond the wall in East Berlin. The sources expressed fear that police also seized a large group of East Germans who had waited at the house since Saturday for the escape route to be completed.

As other Western guides crept away from the ambush they heard shots from the direction of the house.

In another area, an East German border guard shot it out with his own fellows in gun-down darkness and escaped to the suburb of Rudow in the U.S. sector. And a member of the East German Army reached freedom across the barbed wire border into the northern part of West Berlin.
